

MCADOO LOSES GROUND STEADILY WHITE HOUSE IS PLUNGED INTO MOURNING AGAIN

CALVIN COOLIDGE JR. LOSES COURAGEOUS STRUGGLE AFTER POISON ENTERS HIS SYSTEM

Collapsed Early Last Night and Died at 10:30 o'clock, with President and Mrs. Coolidge at His Bedside—Messages of Sympathy Pour Into the White House Today From All Parts of Nation and Foreign Lands—Poison Developed From Slight Abrasion Received While Playing Tennis

Washington, July 8.—(By the A. P.)—Death once more cast its shadows today over the White House, claiming Calvin Coolidge, Jr., the 16-year-old son of the President. A courageous struggle of five days, that stood off the final claim of acute blood poisoning to the utmost, ended last night. The younger son of the President died at the Walter Reed Hospital where he had lain in the desperate fight for life since he was removed there last Saturday, that every resource of medical science might be invoked to save his life.

Wasted in strength by the ravaging spread of septic poisoning that resulted from an almost unnoticed blister that developed on his foot while playing tennis a week ago the youth fought a futile battle throughout yesterday. Losing ground steadily yet he amazed physicians by the tenacity with which he clung to the slender thread of life and his fortitude under the suffering of complications that attended the spread of the treacherous disease.

He collapsed early in the night and death occurred at 10:30 o'clock.

Makes Fine Struggle

Forced in the last hours to abandon the desperate hope they held for his recovery, based much on the courage and fighting spirit they knew he had, the President and Mrs. Coolidge faced the end at their son's bedside. They kept the long vigil there unbroken save for hurried returns to the White House yesterday and Sunday.

FUNERAL PLANS

Washington, July 8.—Tentative plans for the funeral of Calvin Coolidge Jr. were understood to include a simple service at the White House at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the body then to be taken to Northampton, Mass., the Coolidge home, where another service will be held, with burial on Thursday at Plymouth, Vermont, where the President was born.

So plainly showing their ordeal of sorrow, the mother and father left the hospital at once. Mrs. Coolidge held the President's arm as they walked hurriedly to the automobile to drive to the White House.

At the White House there was only the respect of withdrawal to pay as the doors were open to receive the President and Mrs. Coolidge. The mother was joined as she entered by Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, a close friend of the family and a White House guest, with her husband.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge, who are said to have borne up bravely, went at once to their home and at midnight the White House was entirely darkened.

Elder Son Home

John, the elder son, who had been spared the ordeal of the last hours at the bedside of the brother who had been a constant companion, was in his room when his parents returned and remained upstairs. Those who watched the struggle of the 16-year-old lad against the terrible odds of the disease, which ran only on a thread of will and character, at any age had kept him alive so long. The trifling abrasion that had resulted from the blister on Monday was so little thought of that he appeared that night with his father at the public meeting of the budget officials where he saw much to smile and jest about with his elder brother.

By Wednesday, however, the onslaught of the infection had commenced, and Saturday, in a plain army ambulance, with his mother by his side, Calvin Jr. was hastened to the Walter Reed hospital, on the outside of Washington, for an operation which it was hoped might reduce to a new focus the bacteria which were building in the tissues of his leg.

Used Oxygen

With oxygen and restoratives, his attendants were holding some glow of the spark of life in his wasted frame, but with no hope. At 8 o'clock last night it was announced that he was dying but it was not until two hours and a half later that physicians pronounced the end. Messages of sympathy were received by the President and Mrs. Coolidge from persons of all lands and all walks of life.

The tragic death of their son had touched the hearts not only of friends but of many others who wished to convey their sympathy and condolences.

3 CHILDREN PRIZE WINNERS

Minot, July 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Joe McKinley, 908 Second St. N., are the parents of three blue ribbon children who were examined at the Baby Clinic at the fair here. All of them are girls. The seven weeks old babe received a mark of 97 1/2, an older child, 98 1/2, and a three-year-old girl 99 1/2. The score for the last would have been perfect except for a mosquito bite. The father is a well known Minot contractor.

SUFFERS FROM PNEUMONIA

Joseph Devine, Commissioner of Immigration of North Dakota, has developed pneumonia in a local hospital. It was said today by physicians that he was taken ill a few days ago, with a bronchial illness, which developed into the more serious illness. He is reported resting well. Mr. Devine suffered an attack of pneumonia several months ago.

LAFOLLETTE IS GIVEN O. K. OF SOCIALISTS

Convention in Cleveland Indorses Him For the Presidency By Big Margin

Cleveland, July 8.—The national convention of the Socialist party of America last night formally, and under the LaFollette presidential banner. It adopted a report offered by a majority of a committee of 15, recommended that the convention concur in the action of the Conference for Progressive Political Action in endorsing the LaFollette candidacy on its platform.

The vote on this report was 106 to 17.

The action came after a six-hour debate in which 32 of the 157 delegates in the convention took part. It was conducted under strict rules, each side being given 15 minutes to start and finish the discussion and miscellaneous delegates being allowed 5 minutes each. Two exceptions only were made to Alex Cahn, editor of a Jewish newspaper, and Daniel Hoan, mayor of Milwaukee, being given double time.

Eight of the speakers argued for a minority report which would have resulted in a separate Socialist national ticket and platform and three spoke for a substitute which would have accepted the majority idea with reservations as to the vicepresidency.

By adopting the majority report, the convention concurred not only in LaFollette's endorsement, but also in last week's conference decision to postpone a vicepresidential nomination until after the Democratic convention. It also pledged itself to cooperate with the conference in the national elections and in such state and local elections as may be imposed by the smaller units of the Socialist party.

The convention asked increased representation on the national committee of the conference.

City Bacteriologist Renders a Report On It

The city commission, in meeting last night, received the report of the city bacteriologist, A. W. Ecklund, on the condition of the city water.

The report said that the condition of the water was below normal up to June 28, when the new filter plant went into operation, and that after that the bacterial count dropped from 1,800 bacteria per cc to 60 per cc from 3 coll in 10 cc amounts to no B. coli, and the turbidity dropped from 700 to less than 5 per P. M.

The report added that as soon as the water plant is operating with as high degree of efficiency as can be obtained, samples will be taken and new tests made.

BANKERS FINED ON PLEAS MADE IN COURT HERE

Judge Jansonius Imposes Fines on H. F. Rohr and J. A. Kooker of Dawson

EXPLAINS THE FINES

Court in Fining Men Says He Has Ordered Further Investigation

H. F. Rohr was fined $500 and J. A. Kooker was fined $300, by Judge Jansonius in district court here, on their pleas of guilty to having, as officers, kept the First State Bank of Dawson open while it was insolvent. The court entered into the record a notation that the sentence did not bar any prosecution that may be made on any other charges that may be brought. The defendants appeared before the court yesterday afternoon.

Judge Jansonius delivered the sentence, in the case of Mr. Rohr, as follows:

"You are charged with the crime of receiving a deposit of $300.00 in an insolvent bank. After the trial had commenced you changed your plea from not guilty to guilty.

"The State Attorney and also the Attorney General have recommended that no penitentiary sentence be imposed. I fully realize that the plea was changed with the assurance that such a recommendation would be given. I also realize that it was doubtful if a conviction would have been had if it had proceeded, one of the states principal witnesses not being here.

"However, this particular charge is a small one, and even without a recommendation I do not think an plea of guilty a court can justly impose penitentiary sentence. You have pleaded guilty to only one small charge, that of accepting a deposit of $300.00 in a bank when it is insolvent.

"It has been suggested that you committed other and greater crimes in connection with the banking institution of which you were an officer, and that this court should impose a penalty not only for the crime you confessed, but also for other alleged crimes of which no evidence has yet been preferred. It is evident that such suggestions were thoughtlessly made.

"Under our law a man can be convicted only by a jury or upon a plea of guilty. Upon a plea of guilty only such a penalty can be imposed as is suitable to the particular crime charged.

"If you committed other crimes, other charges must be preferred against you, and I want to make it clear that the fine I am about to impose is only for this particular charge, and does not exonerate you of any other crime if you are guilty of other crimes.

"It has been suggested that you embezzled from and looted this bank. If you stood before me convicted of that crime I would not hesitate to impose a sentence of a term of years in the penitentiary.

"There is no more sacred trust than that imposed in one who has the savings of the people of the community in his care, and one who appropriates such funds to his own use is guilty of a heinous crime.

"I have ordered further investigation regarding the other alleged crimes, but that has nothing to do with the crime charged here, and the sentence I am about to impose is only for the crime you pleaded guilty of—namely that of receiving a deposit of $300.00 in an insolvent bank."

It is the sentence of the Court that for the crime you stand convicted of you pay a fine of $500.00.

J. A. Kooker, cashier of the bank, pleaded guilty of a like offense and was fined $300.00. Both fines were paid in full.

OVER INCH OF RAIN RECORDED IN DICKINSON

Williston Also Reports More Than an Inch of Rain in Last 24 Hours

BIG BOON TO CROPS

Held to Insure Bumper Grain Crops, Aside From Past Damage, in Some Places

Dickinson was the center of a heavy rainstorm last night, and several points in western North Dakota reported rain fall in the last 24 hours. To the Bismarck weather bureau this morning.

The Dickinson rainfall, 1.36 inches, is sufficient, in the opinion of many, to mature the grain crop in that section, leaving hail or pest damage the only bar to a bumper grain crop for a considerable territory in western North Dakota. Williston reported 1.08 inches of rain. Dunn Center reported .18 of an inch of rainfall, and Bismarck had a shower with slightly more than a tenth of an inch of rain.

The weather bureau's precipitation report follows:

Amelia 0; Bismarck .11; Bottineau .38; Devils Lake .14; Dickinson 1.36; Dunn Center .18; Ellendale .03; Grand Forks .04; Jamestown, Langdon, Larimore, Lisbon, nothing; Minot .32; Napoleon, Pembina, Moorhead, Minnesota, nothing; Williston 1.08.

There may be thunderstorms this afternoon or tonight.

RAIN TODAY IN EASTERN N. D.

Fargo, July 8.—After several days of warm weather, southeastern, northern and northwestern North Dakota today received a general drizzling which is believed to be of unestimable value to growing crops.

In the southeastern section the rain began falling this morning and up to noon .33 of an inch was reported to have fallen.

A general rainfall throughout Northwestern North Dakota total .32 of an inch in Minot, coming as it did at an opportune time, has brought the already splendid crop a step nearer to successful maturity, farmers in that section declare.

In Minot the rain began falling this morning about 1 o'clock and continued until about 4 a. m., the precipitation falling easily, a fact that is looked upon favorably by farmers and agricultural experts who declare the crop will experience a greater benefit as a consequence.

The rainfall in northeastern North Dakota was declared to be of practical help to all crops, according to J. G. Diamond, statistician of the federal bureau of farm economics for the state, who said that the rain was very timely although there had been no pressing need for it up to date.

HOLDS VILLAGE NOT DEFRAUDED

Judge Wolfe Dismisses Action of Village of Strasburg

Linton, N. D., July 8.—Judge Charles E. Wolfe of Wahpeton has signed an order holding that the village of Strasburg was not defrauded in the sale of an electric light plant to it.

The village sued owners and stockholders of the Strasburg Auto Company, two of whom had been members of the board of trustees of the village. While the village members of the board the village rented from their company the electric light plant and later the village bought the distribution system of the electric light plant. Suit was brought by the village to recover what was claimed to be excessive rent and excessive purchase price, the defendants being charged with fraud and corruption.

The case was tried before Judge Wolfe at Linton. He holds that the village failed to show excessive payments to the auto company, and no fraud and corruption, and that the village got all it paid for, that what the board did was generally known and approved by the citizens, that the village had used the property and is attemping to maintain the suit. The two defendants who were both stockholders in the auto company and members of the village board of trustees were Mathias Fisher and Melchior Brickner. About $3,300 was involved. The defendants were represented by Newton, Dullam and Young of Bismarck.

ABSTRACTORS OF STATE IN CONVENTION

Called to Order By President Dennis of Grand Forks, in Bismarck Today

The North Dakota Title Men's Association, with about 25 abstractors from various parts of the state present, opened a two-day convention in the Masonic Temple this morning. A. W. Dennis of Grand Forks called the association to order, after A. J. Arnot, of the Harbush County Abstract Company, acting as the entertainment committee, had seen that all visitors became acquainted.

Mayor A. P. Lenhart also extended a welcome on behalf of the city, and J. L. Bowers of Mandan replied.

This afternoon the convention was to hear an address by John E. Martin, general counsel, Federal Land Bank, St. Paul, Minnesota. An auto ride about the city and trip through the state penitentiary was on the program. This evening the visitors will banquet at the Grand Pacific Hotel, with Governor Nestos as their guest.

William Pryor of Duluth, Minnesota, former president of the American Association of Title Men, will be among the speakers tomorrow, and P. H. Butler of the Bank of North Dakota will relate experiences in title examining.

BISHOP VISITS

M. E. GATHERING

Valley City, July 8. More than 400 delegates are attending the state Epworth League institute at the Chautauque grounds here, which opened last night with an address by Rev. Walters of Madison, Wis., a former pastor of the First Methodist church of Fargo. Sessions will continue until Sunday night under the leadership of the Rev. G. L. White of Minot, dean of the institute. Bishop E. L. Smith of Helena, Montana, and Dr. T. A. Olson, superintendent of the Fargo district, are attending the institute. Dr. Guthrie, national executive of the Epworth League, will conduct the morning watch at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday.

CONVENTION ADJOURNS UNTIL NIGHT AFTER 6 BALLOTS FAIL TODAY TO NAME A CANDIDATE

Governor Smith's Forces Hold Fast While McAdoo's Vote Sinks, and Senator Ralston Rises to Third Place in the Balloting in New York, But the Movement Fails to Stampede the Convention in Favor of the Dark Horse Candidates—Go in Session Again Tonight

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 8.—(By the A. P.)—Six more futile ballots today—bringing the total to 93—found the Democratic national convention adjourning for a six-hour recess during which conferences were planned in the hope of finding some way through the whirlpool.

McAdoo lines continued to disintegrate during the day. Governor Smith's forces held fast and the much-discussed and looked for booming movement for Senator Ralston was actually developed on the floor. The word went out to flop on the votes for Ralston and in today's balloting his place had risen to third in the list, with a total of 196 1/2.

The McAdoo numbers were hammered steadily down during the day's balloting to a new low record—310 votes—the lowest point the McAdoo fortunes ever have touched since the convention began. They did recover a bit, however, on the last ballot of the day and stood 314 when the convention adjourned. Meanwhile the Smith vote closed at 355 1/2, within 15 of its highest mark in all the balloting. The McAdoo forces had suffered losses between the close of last night's balloting and today's opening.

John W. Davis closed well toward his high mark, standing at 88. Senator Ralston, beginning at a figure surpassing his previous high water mark, was run up in the day's balloting from 98 to 196 1/2.

NORTH DAKOTA MAKES CHANGE IN BALLOTING

ADJOURN AGAIN

New York, July 8.—The Democratic national convention adjourned this afternoon until 9 p. m. today, eastern standard time.

OKLAHOMA CHANGES

Madison Square Garden, July 8.—On the 90th ballot Oklahoma, Nevada and Missouri all went solidly to Senator Samuel Ralston of Indiana.

N. D. SWITCHES

New York, July 8.—North Dakota broke its balloting on the 92nd ballot, the McAdoo forces splitting up, four going for Ralston and one for McAdoo, while the solid five went again for Smith. On the last ballot today the state returned to McAdoo 5; Smith, 5.

MANY ATTEND LAST RITES

Daniel-Prezler Paid Tribute At Medina

Medina, July 8.—Over 1,000 people came from all parts of western Statesman county and Jamestown, attended the funeral at Medina Monday afternoon of the late Daniel Daniel-Prezler, pioneer citizen of Medina, who died Saturday at Bismarck. Mayor, school officer and successful merchant, Daniel Prezler for 24 years had been a leading citizen of the county. He was 54 years of age. He was born at Kavel, South Russia. He is survived by his widow, seven daughters and two sons.

There are 800,000 factory workers in the United States who cannot speak English.

ORDINANCE IS PUT IN EFFECT

First Case Arises Under New Zoning Ordinance

The city zoning ordinance recently passed was called into play last night for the first time.

Joseph Schneider, appeared for Lawrence Schubert, who planned to erect a grocery store on Twelfth street. The business came within the scope of the ordinance, being prohibited unless a petition of property owners was presented to the board of adjustment created under the ordinance, and acted on favorably by them. Mr. Schneider said all property owners within the vicinity, on the street, signed a petition for the business. The matter will go before the board of adjustment.

Members of the board of adjustment named by the commission are C. Berthel Jr., G. F. Dullam, Geo. F. Will, Shirley Ward, H. A. Dobler.

All incoming aliens at American ports must be examined by doctors of the U. S. Public Health Service.

DEATH'S SHADOW AGAIN CAST IN WHITE HOUSE

Washington, July 8.—Calvin Coolidge Jr., according to White House attaches, is the first son of a president to die while his father held that office, since Tad Lincoln died in his father's arms in the White House near the close of the Civil War. So far as they recall there has been no instance of a President's daughter dying during his occupancy of the White House.

The death of the son of President Coolidge marks the third successive administration in which the family occupying the White House has been visited either by death or critical illness. The first wife of former President Wilson died in the White House and later Mr. Wilson suffered there the breakdown which left him an invalid until his recent death. Services for President Harding were held in the White House after his sudden death in San Francisco and previously Mrs. Harding had suffered a critical illness there.

I also realize that it was doubtful if a conviction would have been had if it had proceeded, one of the states principal witnesses is not being here."

"However, this particular charge is a small one, and even without a recommendation I do not think on a plea of guilty a court can justly impose a penitentiary sentence. You have pleaded guilty to only one small charge, that of accepting a deposit of $30.00 in a bank when it is insolvent."

"It has been suggested that you committed other and greater crimes in the State of North Dakota, but institution of which you were an officer, and that this Court should impose a penalty not only for the crime you confessed, but also for other alleged crimes of which no charge has yet been preferred. It is doubtful if any suggestions were thoughtlessly made."

"Under our law a man can be convicted only by a jury or upon a plea of guilty. Upon a plea of guilty only such a penalty can be imposed as is suitable to the particular crime charged."

"If you committed other crimes, other charges must be preferred against you, and I want to make it clear that the fine I am about to impose is only for this particular charge, and does not exonerate you of any other crime if you are guilty of other crimes."

"It has been suggested that you embezzled from and looted this bank. If you stood before me convicted of that crime I would not hesitate to impose a sentence of a term of years in the penitentiary."

"The court has no more to say than that imposed in one who has the savings of the people of the community in his care, and one who appropriates such funds to his own use is guilty of a heinous crime."

"I have ordered further investigation regarding the other alleged crimes, but that has nothing to do with the crime charged here, and the sentence I am about to impose is only for the crime you pleaded guilty of—namely that of receiving a deposit of $30.00 in an insolvent bank."

"It is the sentence of the Court that for the crime you stand convicted of you pay a fine of $500.00."

J. A. Kooker, cashier of the bank pleaded guilty of a like offense and was fined $300.00. Both fines were paid in full.

CAPT. SPANN ORDERED HERE

Capt. James M. Stewart, U. S. A., has been ordered transferred from Bismarck to Grand Forks, as National Guard instructor for the Grand Forks unit, and Capt. Wilson McK. Spann, who was an instructor at the state encampment at Devils Lake, has been ordered to duty here.

CANDIDATES SHOW EXPENSE

Byrne, and Edward Kibler for Democratic nomination for railroad commissioner, nothing.

OVER INCH OF RAIN RECORDED IN DICKINSON

Williston Also Reports More Than an Inch of Rain in Last 24 Hours

BIG BOON TO CROPS

Held to Insure Bumper Grain Crops, Aside From Past Damage, in Some Places

Dickinson was the center of a heavy rainstorm last night, and several points in western North Dakota reported rain fall in the last 24 hours, to the Bismarck weather bureau this morning.

The Dickinson rainfall, 1.36 inches, is sufficient, in the opinion of many, to mature the grain crop in that section, leaving hail or pest damage the only bar to a bumper grain crop for a considerable territory in western North Dakota. Williston reported 1.08 inches of rain. Dunn Center reported .18 of an inch of rainfall, and Bismarck had a shower with slightly more than a tenth of an inch of rain.

The weather bureau's precipitation report follows: Amelia 0; Bismarck .11; Bottineau .38; Devils Lake .14; Dickinson 1.36; Dunn Center .18; Ellendale .03; Grand Forks .04; Jamestown, Langdon, Larimore, Lisbon, nothing; Minot .32; Napoleon, Pembina, Moorhead, Minnesota, nothing; Williston 1.08.

There may be thunderstorms this afternoon or tonight.

RAIN TODAY IN EASTERN N. D. Fargo, July 8.—After several days of warm weather, southeastern, northern and northwestern North Dakota today received a general drenching which is believed to be of untimely value to growing crops.

In the southeastern section the rain began falling this morning and to noon .33 of an inch was reported to have fallen.

A general rainfall throughout northwestern North Dakota total of an inch in Minot, coming as it did at an opportune time, has brought the already splendid crop a step nearer to successful maturity, farmers in that section declare.

In Minot the rain began falling this morning about 1 o'clock and continued until about 4 a. m., the precipitation falling easily, a fact that is looked upon favorably by farmers and agricultural experts who declare the crop will experience a greater benefit as a consequence.

The rainfall in northeastern North Dakota was declared to be of practical help to all crops, according to J. G. Diamond, statistician of the federal bureau of farm economics for the state, who said that what was very timely although there had been no pressing need for it up to date.

HOLDS VILLAGE NOT DEFRAUDED

Judge Wolfe Dismisses Action of Village of Strasburg

Linton, N. D., July 8.—Judge Charles E. Wolfe of Wahpeton has signed an order holding that the village of Strasburg was not defrauded for the sale of an electric light plant to it.

The village sued owners and stockholders of the Strasburg Auto company, two of whom had been members of the board of trustees of the village. While they were members of the board the village rented from their company the electric light plant and later the village bought the distribution system of the electric light plant. Suit was brought by the village to recover what was claimed to be excessive rent and excessive purchase price, the defendants being charged with fraud and corruption.

The case was tried before Judge Wolfe at Linton. He holds that the village failed to show excessive payments to the auto company, and no fraud and corruption, and that the village got all it paid for, that what the board did was generally known and approved by the citizens, that the village had used the property and is estopped to maintain the suit. The two defendants who were both stockholders in the auto company and members of the village board of trustees were Mathias Fisher and Melchior Bricker. About $3,300 was involved. The defendants were represented by Newton, Dullam and Young of Bismarck.

ABSTRACTORS OF STATE IN CONVENTION

Called to Order By President Dennis of Grand Forks, in Bismarck Today

The North Dakota Title Men's Association, with about 25 abstractors from various parts of the state present, opened a two-day convention in the Masonic Temple this morning. A. W. Dennis of Grand Forks called the association to order, after A. J. Arnold, of the Leitch County Abstract Company, acting as the entertainment committee, had seen that all visitors became acquainted.

Mayor A. P. Lenhart also extended a welcome on behalf of the city, and J. L. Bowers of Mandan replied. This afternoon the convention was to hear an address by John E. Martin, general counsel, Federal Land Bank, St. Paul, Minnesota. An auto ride about the city and trip through the state penitentiary was on the program. This evening the visitors will banquet at the Grand Pacific Hotel, with Governor Nestos as their guest.

William Pryor of Duluth, Minnesota, former president of the American Association of Title Men, will be among the speakers tomorrow, and H. Butler of the Bank of North Dakota will relate experiences in title examining.

BISHOP VISITS M. E. GATHERING

Valley City, July 8.—More than 400 delegates are attending the state Epworth League institute at the Chautauque grounds here, which opened last night with an address by Rev. Walters of Madison, Wis., a former pastor of the First Methodist Church of Fargo. Sessions will continue until Sunday night under the leadership of the Rev. G. L. White of Minot, dean of the institute. Bishop E. L. Smith of Helena, Montana, and Dr. T. A. Olson, superintendent of the Fargo district, are attending the institute. Dr. Guthrie, national executive of the Epworth League, will conduct the morning watch at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday.

CONVENTION ADJOURNS UNTIL NIGHT AFTER 6 BALLOTS FAIL TODAY TO NAME A CANDIDATE

Governor Smith's Forces Hold Fast While McAdoo's Vote Sinks, and Senator Ralston Rises to Third Place in the Balloting in New York, But the Movement Fails to Stampede the Convention in Favor of the Dark Horse Candidates—Go in Session Again Tonight

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 8.—(By the A. P.)—Six more futile ballots today—bringing the total to 93—found the Democratic national convention adjourning for a six-hour recess during which conferences were planned in the hope of finding some way through the whirlpool.

McAdoo lines continued to disintegrate during the day. Governor Smith's forces held fast and the much-discussed and looked for booming movement for Senator Ralston was actually developed on the floor. The word went out to flop on the votes for Ralston and in today's balloting his place had risen to third in the list, with a total of 196½.

The McAdoo numbers were hammered steadily down during the day's balloting to a new low record—310 votes—the lowest point the McAdoo fortunes ever have touched since the convention began. They did recover a bit, however, on the last ballot of the day and stood 314 when the convention adjourned. Meanwhile the Smith vote closed at 355½, within 15 of its highest mark in all the balloting. The McAdoo forces had suffered losses between the close of last night's balloting and today's opening.

John W. Davis closed well toward his high mark, standing at 388. Senator Ralston, beginning at a figure surpassing his previous high water mark, was run up in the day's balloting from 98 to 196½.

NORTH DAKOTA MAKES CHANGE IN BALLOTING

ADJOURN AGAIN
New York, July 8.—The Democratic national convention adjourned this afternoon until 9 p. m. today, eastern standard time.

OKLAHOMA CHANGES
Madison Square Garden, July 8.—On the 90th ballot Oklahoma, Nevada and Missouri all went solidly to Senator Samuel Ralston of Indiana.

N. D. SWITCHES
New York, July 8.—North Dakota broke its balloting on the 92d ballot, McAdoo forces splitting up, four going for Ralston and one for McAdoo, while the solid five went again for Smith. On the last ballot today the state returned to McAdoo 5; Smith, 5.

MANY ATTEND LAST RITES

Daniel Preszler Paid Tribute At Medina

Medina, July 8.—Over 1,000 people coming from all parts of western Stutsman county and Jamestown, attended the funeral at Medina Monday afternoon of the late Daniel Preszler, pioneer citizen of Medina, who died Saturday at Bismarck. Mayor, school officer and successful merchant, Daniel Preszler for 24 years had been a leading citizen of the county. He was 53 years of age. He was born at Kassel, South Russia.

He is survived by his widow, seven daughters and two sons. There are 800,000 factory workers in the United States who cannot speak English.

ORDINANCE IS PUT IN EFFECT

First Case Arises Under New Zoning Ordinance

The city zoning ordinance recently passed was called into play last night for the first time. Joseph Schneider appeared for Lawrence Schubert, who planned to open a grocery store on Twelfth street. The business came within the scope of the ordinance, being prohibited unless a petition of property owners was presented to the board of adjustment created under the ordinance, and acted on favorably by them. Mr. Schneider said all property owners within the vicinity, on the street, signed a petition for the business. The matter will go before the board of adjustment.

Members of the board of adjustment named by the commission are C. Bertsch Jr., G. F. Dullam, Geo. F. Will, Birlea Ward, H. A. Dobler. All incoming aliens at American ports must be examined by doctors of the U. S. Public Health Service.

PLATFORM OF PROGRESSIVE UNIT GIVEN

LaFollette Group Demands Tax on Excess Profits, Stock Dividends, Etc.

FOR MARKET AGENCY

Favors Creation of Government-Owned Agency as an Agricultural Aid

Text of the platform adopted at the Cleveland convention which nominated Senator LaFollette follows:

Preamble
For one hundred and forty-eight years the American people have been seeking to establish a government for the service of all and to prevent the establishment of a government for the mastery of the few. Free men of every generation must combat renewed efforts of organized force and greed to destroy liberty. Every generation must wage a new war for freedom against new forces that seek through new devices to enslave mankind.

Under our representative democracy the people protect their liberties through their public agents. The test of public officials and public policies alike must be: Will they serve us or will they exploit the common need?

The reactionary continues to put his faith in mastery for the solution of all problems. He seeks to have what he calls the "strong men and best minds" rule and impose their decisions on the masses of their weaker brethren.

The progressive, on the contrary, contends for less autocracy and more democracy in government and for less power of privilege and greater obligation of service.

Under the principle of ruthless individualism and competition, that government is deemed best which offers to the few the greatest chance of individual gain.

Under the progressive principle of co-operation, the government is deemed best which offers to the many the highest of average happiness and well being.

It is our faith that we all go up or down together—that class gains are temporary delusions and that eternal laws of compensation make every man his brother's keeper.

Program

In that faith we present our program of public force:

1. The use of the power of the federal government to crush private monopoly, not to foster it.

2. Unqualified enforcement of the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech, press and assembly.

3. Public ownership of the nation's water power and creation of a public superpower system. Strict partition and permanent control of all natural resources, including coal, iron and other ores, oil and timber lands, in the interest of the people. Promotion of public works in times of business depression.

4. Retention of surtaxes on swollen incomes, restoration of the tax on excess profits, taxation of stock dividends, profits undistributed to evade taxes, rapidly progressive taxation on large estates and inheritances, and repeal of excessive tariff duties, especially on trust-controlled necessities of life and of nuisance taxes on consumption, to relieve the people of the present unjust burden of taxation and compel those who profit by the war to pay their share of the war's costs, and to provide the funds for adjusted compensation solemnly pledged to the veterans of the World War.

5. Reconstruction of the Federal Reserve and Federal Farm Loan systems to provide for direct public control of the nation's money and credit to make it available on fair terms to all, and national and state legislation to permit and promote co-operative banking.

6. Adequate laws to guarantee to farmers and industrial workers the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing for the maintenance or improvement of their standards of life.

7. Creation of a government marketing corporation to provide a direct route between farm producer and city consumer and to assure farmers fair prices for their products, and protect consumers from the profiteers in foodstuffs and other necessities of life. Legislation to control the meat-packing industry.

8. Protection and aid of co-operative enterprises by national and state legislation.

9. Common international action to effect the economic recovery of the world from the effects of the World War.

10. Repeal of the Esch Cummins law—public ownership of railroads with democratic operation—with definite safeguards against bureaucratic control.

11. Abolition of the tyranny and usurpation of the courts, including the practice of nullifying legislation in conflict with the political, social or economic theories of the judges. Abolition of injunctions in labor disputes and of the power to punish for contempt without trial by jury. Election of all federal judges without party designation for limited terms.

12. Prompt ratification of the child labor amendment and subsequent enactment of a federal law to protect children in industry. Removal of legal discriminations against women by measures not prejudicial to legislation necessary for the protection of women and for the advancement of social welfare.

13. A deep water-way from the Great Lakes to the sea.

14. We denounce the mercenary system of degraded foreign policy under recent administrations in the interests of financial imperialists, oil monopolists and international bankers, which has degraded our states department from its high service as a strong and kindly intermediary of defenseless governments to a trading outpost for those interests and concession-seekers engaged in the exploitation of weaker nations, as contrary to the will of the American people, destructive of domestic development and provocative of war. We favor an active foreign policy to bring about a revision of the Versailles treaty in accordance with the terms of the armistice, and to promote firm treaty agreements with all nations to outlaw wars, abolish conscription, drastically reduce land, air and naval armaments and guarantee public referendums on peace and war.

In supporting this program we are applying to the needs of today the fundamental principles of American democracy, opposing equally the dictatorship of plutocracy and the dictatorship of the proletariat.

We appeal to all Americans without regard to partisan affiliation and we raise the standards of our faith so that all of like purpose may rally and march in this campaign under the banners of progressive union.

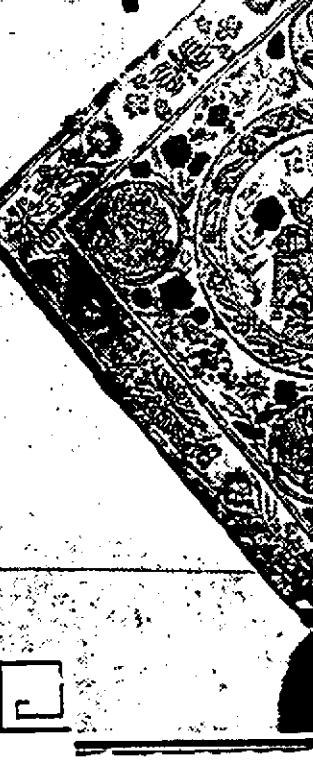

The nation may grow rich in the vision of greed. The nation will grow great in the vision of service.

Separate Planks

1.—Resolved, that we favor the enactment of the postal salary adjustment measure for the employees of the postal service passed by the first session of the Sixty-eighth Congress and vetoed by President Coolidge.

2.—Resolved, that we favor enforcement and extension of the merit system.

THOMAS JEFFERSON HEADS CAST IN "LIGHTNIN" COMING TO AUDITORIUM

Felix Haney and Thomas Jefferson in "Lightnin"

Two representatives of John Golden, the New York theatrical producer, were in town yesterday to confer with the management of the Auditorium with reference to the engagement of Mr. Golden's production of "Lightnin'" here on July 16.

One of the visitors was the company's advance manager, who advised the prices and other business details of the local engagement. The other was a scenic technician who measured the stage and inspected its electrical and mechanical facilities. The famous courtroom scene in "Lightnin'" requires a good deal of space and all the company's contracts being adequate to permit the reproduction of the scene exactly as many local people witnessed it at the Gaiety Theatre, New York, and the Blackstone Theatre, Chicago. Mr. Golden is extremely anxious to maintain the high standard set by the Metropolitan Opera House.

Thomas Jefferson, a son of the late Joseph Jefferson, heads the special cast which Mr. Golden has sent on a tour of the principal cities, including Detroit, St. Louis and Kansas City. Charles E. Evans and Felix Haney are also prominent in the cast.

Miss Bacon, who is a daughter of support for more than two years. As the prices, opening of seat sale, etc., have been decided, the theatre management is now in a position to answer all inquiries concerning the most anxiously awaited offering of the year.

Mrs. Fred Mann of Devils Lake, Member of G. O. P. Committee, Receives Word

Devils Lake, N. D., July 7.—Mrs. Fred P. Mann of Devils Lake, who was appointed a member of the Republican national committee during the recent national convention at Cleveland has received a letter from President Calvin Coolidge in which he calls attention to the fact that the Republican national committee has received too little attention and that the committee this year is a more representative body than heretofore. President Coolidge's letter to Mrs. Mann follows:

The White House
Washington
June 18, 1924.

My Dear Mrs. Mann:
At this earliest opportunity, I want to express my gratification that you are to serve from your state as a member of the new Republican national committee. While membership in this important body is a very real distinction, I have always felt that it brings all too little appreciation. The national committee is necessarily one of the most important instruments that have been devised under our form of government, through parties, in the center of the business conduct of the party, involving a great responsibility. The members of the committee are volunteer patriots, serving from no other motive than devotion to the cause. To them falls the tasks of organization and management, with little of tangible recognition or official reward. It is therefore fitting that acknowledgment be made of the obligation due to them from both the party nominees and the great rank and file of the organization. I cannot express this often, but I want you to know I always feel it.

The national committee becomes this year a far more representative body than ever before, for its membership now comprises both men and women, serving on a basis of complete equality, precisely as the full duties of citizenship have been conferred upon them. This marks a long advance, and is as I wanted it.

Many responsibilities have come to me, but you will share them. Upon your energy, wisdom, and patriotic fervor, will largely depend the effectiveness of our appeal to the nation. I want that appeal based upon the highest considerations of public interest and welfare. The long history of national reliance in all our emergency has shown that the Republican party justifies us in all our claims and candidly presented we shall be rewarded with a satisfactory response from the nation.

I want you to feel how much I appreciate the services which you so generously give.

Very truly yours,
CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Wisconsin Ranks With Powers In Rowing Circle

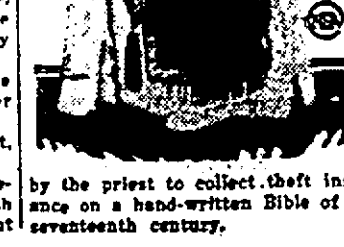

By NEA Service
Madison, Wis., July 7.—Wisconsin's eight-oared shell didn't win the annual rowing classic on the Hudson this year, being beaten by two lengths by Washington, but the Badgers did gain a splendid moral victory.

Considered a forlorn hope at the start, the Madison crewmen sprung one of the biggest upsets in years by forcing the western huskies to the limit all the way. Cornell, Penn., Syracuse and Columbia, all esteemed highly by the experts, were out-rowed.

Wisconsin hadn't sent a crew east since 1914. For several years the school hadn't even boasted a shell. And yet, in the premier race of the season, it passed them all but Washington, winner in 1923 and conceded a certain winner this year.

It was a moral triumph, nothing less, for Coach "Dad" Vail and his Badgers.

3 KILLED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Victims of Accidents Over The Week-End

Minneapolis, July 7.—Three deaths in accidents were reported in Minneapolis over the weekend. The victims were:

Clement Vasiloff, 1105 1/2 Seventh street south; fatally injured in an automobile accident near Maple Plain.

L. A. Dimoff, 21 Second avenue south; killed in the same accident. Stanley Czarnecki, 9 years old, 1600 Sixth street northeast; died of burns.

Vasiloff and Dimoff lost their lives when their automobile skidded and overturned when they attempted to pull ahead of a car on the road between Mound and Maple Plain. Their machine plunged against a post and Dimoff died on the way to the General Hospital. Vasiloff died Sunday morning, 18 hours after the crash.

Stanley Czarnecki was fatally burned while playing with matches behind a store at Fourth street and Sixteenth avenue northeast. Attendees at the General Hospital were told that Stanley and a companion, while playing with the matches, dropped one of them into a half-empty container of wood alcohol. The alcohol exploded and set fire to the boy's clothing. He died within two hours.

REV. VERMILYA IS MOVING TO NEW POSITION

Former M. E. District Superintendent Is Secretary for Home Missions

FAMILY IN CITY

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Vermilya and daughters, Misses Marjorie and Mildred, are in Bismarck for a day or two visiting friends on their way from Palo Alto, Cal., to their future home in New York. Rev. Vermilya was made executive secretary of the Home Missions Council a few months ago, but is just now removing to his headquarters in New York City. The council which he heads is made up of the secretaries of home mission boards of 28 denominations, and its object is to promote cooperation in the expenditure of money, and in the distribution of men.

Dr. Vermilya is spending some time in the state cooperating with the state denominational leaders, and the representatives of the several denominational boards in putting on a joint field study. He will be in North Dakota for about ten days, and will then go to Washington for similar work, after which he will join his family in Ohio, and they will go to New York.

Harold Vermilya, who has been teaching at Washington for the past year, joined the family here and will accompany them to New York. The entire trip from California is being made in a Studebaker limousine, the family camp, wherever tourist camps are provided. They visited Yosemite National Park, Crater Lake, Yellowstone national park, going the Columbia highway from Oregon.

Before entering Oregon, they were required to be disinfected from the foot and mouth disease, all travelers from California being required to do so.

Found Paved Roads
From Palo Alto to Portland, they found the roads paved almost all the way, and also in northern Idaho the highways were in wonderful condition. Starting on their trip June 27, they have averaged around 250 miles a day when not making any stops, and have already traveled over 3,300 miles.

"Everywhere the tourist camps are almost luxuriously equipped," said Mrs. Vermilya, "but when more so than in Oregon. In the Medford camp we found cottages to rent, furnished with gas stoves, electric irons, and every convenience. And all the camps were crowded with tourists."

The Vermyllys will visit friends in Valley City, and will camp at Walker, Minn., for some time, and will visit relatives in Ohio.

In New York, Miss Marjorie and Mildred, who will both be juniors next year, will enter Columbia, as will Harold Vermilya, who will take post-graduate work.

Seeks Cooperation
"After a number of years of experience as a district superintendent and representative of the board of home missions of the Methodist church in the West, I am convinced that the time is here when the various denominations must find a way through cooperation to provide Christian service in many of the smaller and weaker communities," said Dr. Vermilya. "The solution of this does not seem to lie in the Union church, but in the division of territory whereby Christian forces retain connection with the world service program and prevent the increase of church organizations as the Union movement seems to be encouraging."

TAKES CHARGE OF CLINIC

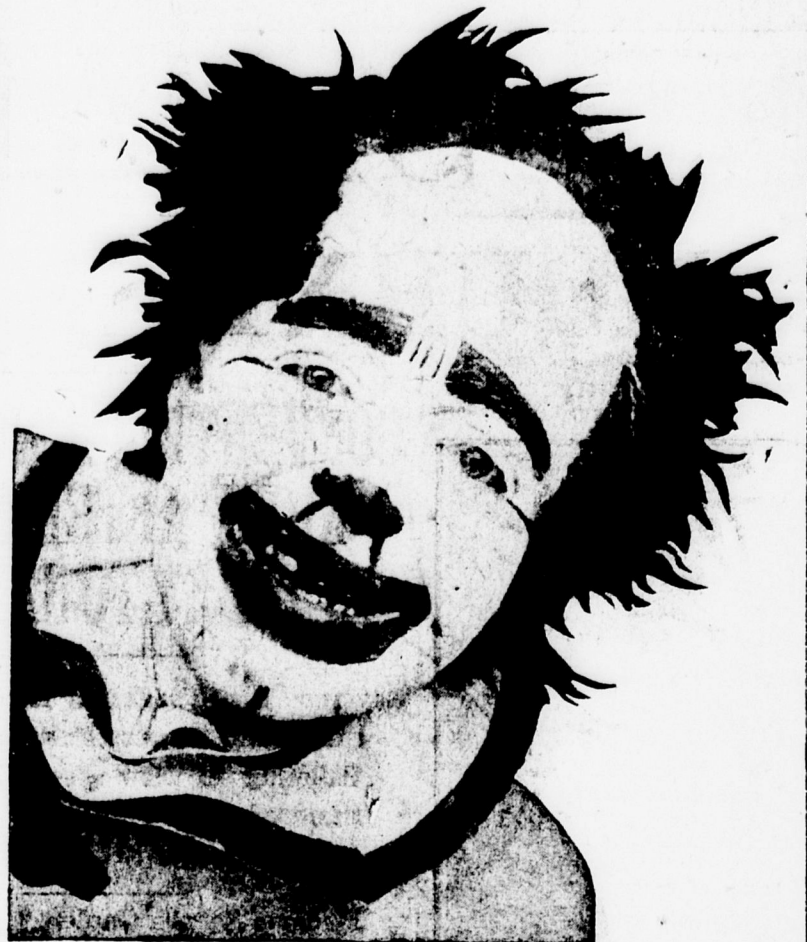

Dr. L. O. Simonstad who has been connected with the city and county hospital in St. Paul arrived in the city yesterday to take charge of the traveling clinic sent out by the Tuberculosis Association during the summer months. He will be assisted in his work by Edna Gaither, tuberculosis nurse and they left this morning for Oliver County, where they will hold a series of ten clinics over the county. From there they will go to Billings and Hettering counties and will spend the greater part of the summer in the western counties. The traveling clinic has met a need in the isolated rural communities especially among the children and this year it is the plan to do more intensive work along the line of tuberculosis.

At The Movies

AT THE CAPITOL
To all those people who like a good, holding story in their film-fare who are not contented with the facial contortions of pretty stars but who demand intelligent acting and artistic dressing of a production, we recommend "Innocence," a mighty fine motion picture. Anna Q. Nilsson is featured in the production, which opened for a two-day run at the Capitol Theatre last night. By her work in "Innocence" she proves once again our contention that she is one of the best actresses on the screen.

THE ELTINGE
The story of "The Marriage Cheat" which shows at the Eltinge theatre Wednesday and Thursday, relates the adventures of a civilized young woman, pretty and rich, who is cast upon a desert island through a remarkable escape, and there finds the love that civilization has denied her. "C'mon, Skinny! Let's get up and see the circus come in."

And Skinny will have to get up early, for the circus—Robbins Brothers—is coming in at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning on the South Sea, and will unload in the Soo line yards, according to F. Robert Saul, advance agent for the show, here today. The exact place of the performance to be given by the circus tomorrow afternoon and night had not been fixed early today. But there will be a parade at 11 a. m., Mr. Saul said.

Things have changed in the circus business according to the press agent, who is in the city today. The old days of skillful crews of tent peg drivers, straining lines of horses drawing big wagons from the trains, and the elephants boosting heavy trucks about have passed according to the agent. But equally interesting is the new method of unloading the circus and putting up the big tent.

Here is the 1924 method of doing it: A large motor driven spool winds and unwinds the canvas for the tents; large motor tractors haul as many as five wagons at one time, and the steam pile-driver hammers the stakes into the ground.

The Robbins Brothers circus will show both afternoon and evening favorites in the cost. There is no spot on the globe which possesses as much of a mixture of romance as the South Sea Islands. For many decades, novelists, composers, poets and painters have found their inspiration in those gems of the Pacific, with the result that the mere mention of them stirs up in one's imagination visions of moon-bathed beaches, palms gently swayed by the sweet-scented zephyrs and native girls dancing to the strains of sensuous music.

PLAN FIGHT FOR CONGRESS

LaFollette National Manager Announces Plan

Chicago, July 8.—A militant campaign to support congressional candidates endorsed by the forces of Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin with the primary effort to elect a presidential and national ticket is planned by Rep. John W. Nelson of the Third Wisconsin District, who has opened national headquarters here and assumed charge of the LaFollette presidential campaign.

"We expect to support progressive forces irrespective of parties," he said. "We intend insofar as possible to avoid taking on the burden of any state, county or legislative candidacy. But we are much interested in maintaining our balance of power in both houses of Congress."

Selection of a vice-presidential candidate will not be settled upon until after the Democratic convention, he said.

MANY FILL OUT BLANKS

Avail Themselves of Legion's Adjusted Compensation Service

Many ex-service men availed themselves of the opportunity of getting aid in filling out their application blanks for the adjusted compensation voted by Congress, at the Legion headquarters in a vacant store room in the Webb block on Main street last night. The office maintained by the Lloyd Spetz Post for all ex-service men will be open every night this week and Saturday afternoon.

Those who volunteered their services last night in helping ex-service men make out their applications were Norman Flow, Philip Elliott, Spencer Boise and L. P. Warren and tonight the office will be in charge of C. J. Haugh, Phil Webb, John Mussell and F. L. Page. Some ex-service men are under the impression that application blanks performances. The circus train will arrive at 5 o'clock Friday morning and will unload immediately.

A big parade is scheduled for 11 o'clock. There will be three bands to furnish the music, including the famous clown band. In the parade will be many open dens of wild animals, for the circus is noted for its wild animal acts, cowboys and cow-girls, a band of real Sioux Indians, two calliope, elephants, camels, and many other novel features.

The big show program opens a new, novel, and sensational spectacular production entitled "Cinderella in Jungle Land" in which 250 people take part. From the minute "Cinderella" enters in tatters as she is transformed into a charming princess by the fairy queen, until she is carried away by her royal lover, Prince Charming, one gorgeous transformation scene follows another in bewildering succession of rapid fire changes. The whole grand cast of principals, a dancing ballet of thirty pretty young women, and a wonderful singing chorus of 150 people are wonderfully trained and handsomely dressed in oriental costumes.

The five riding Davenport, bareback riders; Miss Kate Smith and her Russian wolf hounds, and many other features are in the show.

are not on hand at the office. This is a mistake, Adjutant Warren of the Legion post said today. Everything needed in filling out the applications is to be found at the office.

The Legionnaires particularly invite dependent relatives of service men who died to come in and have their applications made out. These relatives are to be compensated in cash.

Bobby Discovers Missing Father

By HAROLD CARTER

Bobby was lost. It is very hard to be lost when you are only eight years old and have gone out into the world to find a father.

He held the scrap of paper which was to be a tallman in his hand. He had taken that from his mother's desk when she was in the other room. He knew that this would help him to find a father such as he had always wanted.

Suddenly Bobby's legs gave out. He was tired and bewildered by the rush of traffic and the busy pedestrians.

He sat down upon the curb and rubbed his eyes with two grimy little hands, and still he could not rub the tears away.

"What's the matter?" asked a big policeman, striding up to him. "Are you lost, boy?"

Bobby handed him the piece of paper. The policeman looked at it and whistled.

"Mr. Swanscott?" he ejaculated.

"Suits alive, is he your daddy?" Bobby nodded dubiously. The policeman picked him up and carried him across the street to a big building and spoke to the porter. The porter took Bobby to the door of a little room that was moving up and up.

Upstairs John Swanscott was holding a company meeting. The director were all assembled and ready to begin business. John Swanscott walked restlessly about the room. His heart was not in the company that day. He was thinking of the girl who had left him five years before because—because—

Well, he had tried to find her many times. But Hilda's pride had lent her power to evade him, and he had learned nothing. He did not know, for instance, that he was the father.

But with the shrewd instinct of five years Bobby had long ago divined that something was the matter with mother. True, he did not know that mothers ought not to cry at night, and sometimes during the day as well; it was only a subtle instinct that informed him how happy he would be, and mother, too, if he could bring home a father.

He had noticed particularly that the piece of paper with the name on it was treasured, and that mother took it out of the desk drawer and began to write a letter, and that she always ended by tearing up the paper on which she had written, and throwing the pieces into the basket.

Ah, well, it was not necessary for John Swanscott to know all this. He had troubles enough. He had thrown himself unreservedly into his work, an embittered man, and now very generous one. The name of Swanscott had become feared in Wall street. There was not one of the directors, who stood nervously about the room, who was not afraid of him.

"The meeting called, gentlemen," he said—and just then clerk came in through the private door.

"To see me!" exclaimed John Swanscott incredulously. "The porter, did you say?" Then anger got the better of him. "Did he tell him I had a company meeting?" he began.

And just then a dirty little boy with a tear-stained face and grimy hands that clutched a scrap of paper, came toddling into the room. Bobby looked around gravely, and he stared into the face of each of the amused directors in turn before planting himself upon his sturdy little legs in front of Swanscott.

"Well, sir, what can I do for you?" inquired Swanscott gravely. "Have you come to attend the meeting of this company?"

"Yes," answered Bobby, with equal gravity. "I want a father."

The words struck Swanscott to the quick. He glared at the little boy, and the directors, each of whom knew the tragic story of Swanscott's life though he did not know they knew, tried to suppress their interest.

"So you have come to me to find a father for you, have you?" inquired the president. "What is that you have in your hand, young man?"

Bobby stretched out his hand and offered him the paper, with the assurance of five years old. Swanscott took it and gave an involuntary start.

It was Hilda's handwriting that he saw before his eyes. It was impossible to mistake that. How many times had he not seen it upon those letters at home, every one of which he had read so often that he knew it by heart!

"Mother is always crying because I haven't a father," explained Bobby. "She cried all night, and sometimes she writes things on a piece of paper and then tears it up and frowns it away. So I thought—I thought I would get a father."

John Swanscott looked around him, and suddenly a warm sense of humanity filled his shrunken heart. And the directors, seeing the look upon the face, drew together into a corner.

"What is your name?" asked Swanscott of the boy. "Bobby," That was his name—his second name, and it had been arranged that if there were a boy he was to inherit. Swanscott reached for his hat.

"Well, Bobby, I guess you have found one," he answered. "Gentlemen," he added, turning to the directors, "there will be no company meeting today."

To Inspire in Youth Civic Betterment

New York, July 8. (A. P.)—Graduates of New York City high schools throughout the United States are being considered for the first award of the Alfred C. Bosson gold medal, to be given annually for distinguished civic service, according to an announcement made by the Corporation in Government Committee, of this city.

Public officials, leaders in welfare movements, soldiers, military aviators actors and actresses are among those whose names have been forwarded to the committee.

The gold medal is similar in design to the Bosson silver medal, which for the last two years has been given to undergraduates of the New York City high schools who have distinguished themselves in the practical application of their studies of government in terms of service.

Candidates for the gold medal, which will be formally awarded next fall, may live in any part of the country.

The committee which will make the award, realizing that within a few years the boys and girls of today will hold the reins of government throughout the world, seeks in this way to develop the power and ability of the younger generation for participation in government.

BOY DROWNED IN RESERVOIR

Fargo, July 8.—Wesley Ackerson, 21, of Arthur, was drowned in the railroad reservoir at Prosper at 3:30 yesterday while he and several companions were seeking to reach shore in a leaky boat. Members of the Cass county sheriff's department and of the Cassellon fire department recovered the body at about 10 p. m. last night.

One of Ackerson's companions attempted to push the boat to shore while swimming behind it, and the drowned man is believed to have jumped from the craft as it approached the shore. He was unable to swim and sank in the reservoir which is about 20 feet deep.

The dead youth is a son of Louis Ackerson, farmer near Arthur. Funeral services will be held at the Herby Norwegian Lutheran church near Amenla.

RUM RUNNER?

Trade Unions of Germany Thank British Colleagues

London, June 8. (A. P.)—The British Trades Union congress has earned the gratitude of the German General Federation of Trades Unions for their moral and other help in strengthening the German workers against their employers.

A letter from Herr Leipart, secretary of the German federation, to their English fellow-workers conveys "the hearty thanks of German Trade unionism to the English Trade unions for their willing and self-sacrificing help, without which we certainly should not have been able, as we now are, energetically to oppose the employers in their attempts to lower the conditions of labor."

Everywhere in Germany, Herr Leipart continued, the struggle for increased wages has been initiated despite the attack on the eight-hour day by the employers. The majority of German workers still have an eight-hour day, and he is confident they will be able to reestablish it where it has been lost if an understanding with France on the basis of the experts' report is reached.

Early Today

TAKES SETBACK
Chicago, July 8.—Increased movement of new wheat from the Southwest and consequent hedging sales proved more than an offset today for bullish factors elsewhere. Wheat prices declined during the last part of the day and closed unsettled, one-fourth to one and one-fourth cents net lower, September $1.12 1/4 to $1.12 3/4 and December $1.15 1/4 to 1/2.

Chicago, July 8.—Black rust reports from Minnesota, together with buying here by foreigners, were largely responsible for an upward swing in wheat prices today after a weak start. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/4 cent decline to 1/2 cent advance, September $1.13 1/4 to $1.13 3/4 and December $1.16 1/4, were followed by a moderate setback all around and then by a decided rally.

This photograph was taken just after Chairman William H. Johnston had called the conference to order in the Cleveland Auditorium, or Public Hall, as Clevelanders prefer to call it.

The gathering place is the same in which the Republican convention was held nearly a month ago.

Despite the hall's enormous size the main floor was pretty well filled with delegates, spectators and new-paper representatives, and there was even a sprinkling in the galleries.

The picture was taken looking directly upon the heart of the conference, showing the delegates massed in front of the rostrum from which they are separated, however, by the press section. In the very foreground is a corner of one of the galleries, from which the camera was directed.

Photographer "Bob" Dorman elected to concentrate on the very center of the conference's activities in preference to including the entire hall, thus achieving a pleasing variation from the orthodox style of convention photograph which in this case would practically have duplicated the earlier Republican gathering.

In the meantime, Anderson was removed to the Washington county jail at Millwater. Bail was not set.

Anderson, who is alleged to have attacked his wife with a club while she lay asleep in bed at their home early Sunday, drove to the local police station and surrendered himself. Authorities say he was under the impression his wife was dead and went to give himself up.

Mrs. Anderson is in a local hospital in a critical condition.

COURT UPHOLDS PLEA FOR WIFE'S OBEDIENCE

Montgomery, Ala., July 8. (A. P.)—The age-old marriage vow containing the word "obey," fast tending toward obsolescence, was given an interpretation with "teeth" by the Alabama court of appeals when it upheld, in effect, the right of a husband to object to his wife's employment of adventitious aids to her supposed natural beauty.

It is the imperative duty of a man's wife to obey the court, held the wife in question had curled her hair against the expressed wish of her husband.

In rendering the opinion, the court also decided it not only was the right but the duty of the husband, in absence of proof of bad character, to fix the domicile of his children, irrespective of the mother's wishes.

The ruling was made in reversing a lower court which had issued a writ of habeas corpus to Mrs. Marion Sparkman to recover custody of her daughter.

Following domestic incompatibility as a result of his wife's curled hair, it was said, Mrs. Sparkman left her husband, taking the child. Later Sparkman recovered the daughter and placed her in his mother's home.

Mr. Sparkman filed petition for a writ of habeas corpus and the lower court ordered Sparkman to protect the child. This order met reversal in the appellate tribunal.

wounds, according to Dr. C. E. Stackhouse.

The Coolidge boy suffered a primary wound in the heel, Dr. Stackhouse said. It probably did not appear to amount to much, however, entered the blood stream and attacked the whole system.

"A condition developed which we know as a general septic," said Dr. Stackhouse. "It may develop from any small wound which is infected."

More time than not such poison is arrested, but in the case of the wound of the Coolidge boy, basing an opinion on the newspaper description of the injury, by the time the boy became sick the poison had entered the blood stream and could not be arrested, Dr. Stackhouse said.

Amputation is some cases is effective, but in the case of the Coolidge boy it would have been unavailing, he said. Once the poison had permeated the whole bloodstream it became a question of the boy's vitality against the poison.

Griggs County Paper Suggests That They Quit Republican Column

The Griggs County Sentinel-Courier, one of the Nonpartisan League papers in the state, suggests that all the League candidates nominated at the primary convention resign, and run as independents in the independent column.

Whether the Sentinel-Courier represents the predominating views of the leaders of the League organization is not known, and it does not pretend that it does. Objections to this plan would be that it would endanger the success of the League candidates who were nominated, but the Sentinel-Courier says that these candidates are not tied to any particular party, neither is the League organization, and that there can be no pride in the League candidates running under a Republican heading. "The best interests of the League are not involved in either of the old parties. It owes nothing to either party. Its best interests call for a complete divorce from both the old parties," says the Sentinel-Courier.

The suggestion is further made that Senie and the other League candidates should make the race in the independent column in which the name of LaFollette "will appear upon the ballot in November as an independent," candidate for the presidency.

League legislative candidates and candidates for congress, would all thus be found in one column on the ballot.

It remains to be seen what further steps will be taken in the matter by the League organization as LaFollette has announced his candidacy as a third party leader for the presidency. The idea involved in the above suggestion is to try to elect all the candidates of the League who lost out in the primary, and also to secure control of the affairs of North Dakota through full control of the industrial commission which the League lost in the primary.

SAYS N. D. IS BEST PLACE

Middaugh Advises Against Moving to Washington, Oregon

R. A. Middaugh, former fire marshal and farmer, who has returned from Oregon and Washington, where he spent the winter, declares North Dakota is the only place for him.

Mr. Middaugh and wife were at Longview, Wash., a boom lumber town, and he declared it was simply a boom town. During the winter, he said from 100 to 600 men stood in line each day seeking work, and were it not for the Salvation Army, citizens and other organizations, many would have suffered much, he said.

The two states, he said, offer the North Dakota farmer who desires to move only lumber, mining and oil industries, foreign to him. Mr. Middaugh declared the orchard industry was in a bad way in the two states, and said that he could take a North Dakota in one hand and a five or ten acre orchard in the North Dakota in the other and pay the debts and give the owner $100 to get out of the country.

If farmers from the Northwest who are migrating to the coast knew what they were going up against, they would be glad to stay here, he said.

Magyars Are Slow To Honor Pope

Budapest, July 8. (A. P.)—The memory of a 17th century Pope is to be honored by a monument in a public square in the capital of Hungary.

This belated recognition is offered in the memory of Pope Innocent XI in return for the valuable help he rendered the Magyars over 200 years ago in their struggles against the Turks. The memorial will be erected in the square where once an old fortress stood. The inception of the scheme is due to Cardinal Csernoch, who desired to commemorate his golden mass in this way.

German Shoemakers Pay Help in Stock

Firmenhaus, Germany, July 8.—When payday came around in this shoe manufacturing town recently, the factory owners were up against it for cash. The scarcity of liquid capital is quite as acute in the shoe industry as it is in any branch of German trade.

A novel way was sought out of the dilemma. Instead of paying the men off in marks, they gave them each a pair of shoes as part payment of their wages.

An hour later virtually the whole shoe working population had been transformed into a sales aggregation. From store to store wandered heads of families, trying to dispose of their pair of shoes in return for things to eat.

RUST REPORTS -BOOST WHEAT

Prices Take an Upward Swing
Early Today

TAKES SETBACK
Chicago, July 8.—Increased movement of new wheat from the Southwest and consequent hedging sales proved more than an offset today for bullish factors elsewhere. Wheat prices declined during the last part of the day and closed unsettled, one-fourth to one and one-fourth cents net lower, September $1.12 1/2 to $1.12 3/4, and December $1.15 1/2 to 3/4.

Chicago, July 8.—Black rust reports from Minnesota, together with buying here by foreigners, were largely responsible for an upward swing in wheat prices today after a weak start. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/4 decline to 3/4 advance, September $1.13 1/4 to $1.13 3/4, and December $1.16 1/4, were followed by a moderate setback all around and then by a decided rally.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
Chicago, July 8.—Hog receipts 39,000. Moderately active, steady to 10 cents higher. Top weighty butchers $7.25.

Cattle receipts 8,000. Killing classes slightly more active. Best heavyweight and heavyweight kind steers, early $10.25.

Sheep receipts 10,000. Active, on native lambs, around 25 cents lower.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR

Minneapolis, July 8.—Flour unchanged to 15 cents lower. Quoted $7.30 to $7.35 a barrel in carload lots in round cotton sacks. Shipments 10,830 barrels. Bran $2.00 to $2.00.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN

Minneapolis, July 8.—Wheat receipts 199 cars compared with 99 cars a year ago. Cash No. 1 northern $1.20 1/4 to $1.21 1/4; No. 1 northern spring choice to fancy $1.35 1/4 to $1.47 1/4; good to choice $1.26 1/4 to $1.34 1/4; ordinary to good $1.22 1/4 to $1.25 1/4; July $1.19 1/4; September $1.17 1/4; December $1.19 1/4; corn No. 3 yellow, 94 1/4 to 95 1/4; oats No. 3 white 50 to 51 1/4; barley 60 to 65; rye No. 2, 70 1/4 to 70 3/4; flax No. 1, $2.31 to $2.35.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

South St. Paul, July 8.—Cattle receipts 1,200. Generally steady. Best steers and yearlings fairly numerous, slow quality medium to good. Bulk steers and yearlings $7.00 to $8.75. Fat she-stocks moderately active, $3.50 to $6.00. Better kind upwards to $7.00 or better. Canners and cutters $2.25 to $3.00. Bologna bulls active, strong, $4.75 to $4.50. Stockers and feeders $4.00 to $6.00. Calves receipts 2,300. Unevenly 25c to 50c higher. Top sort $8.00 to $9.00. Bulk to packers $8.25 to $8.50.

Hog receipts 9,500. Good and choice 180 to around 200 pounds, to crages about 10c to 15c higher at $6.85 and $6.90. Latter price early top. Packing sons strong, largely $5.75 to $6.00. Bulk feeder pigs $5.75.

Sheep receipts 200. Lambs 25 cents lower. Sheep steady. Bulk fat natives $12.00 to $13.00. Bulk light ewes $5.50.

Tired all the time; Weak and worn out night and day; Back aches; head aches; Your kidneys are probably weakened. You should help them at their work.

Let one who knows tell you how. G. W. Burbeck, s.a. engineer, Bismarck, says: "I had an attack of lumbago. I could hardly get about, my back was so lame and painful and I felt drowsy and tired. As an engineer at the Electric Light Plant, there was more or less exposure to draughts and I blame the cold I took for starting the trouble. My kidneys didn't act regularly and when I heard about Doan's Pills being so good I began using them. One box cured me up and I have never since had a return symptom of kidney disorder."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Burbeck had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

PROGRESSIVE CONFERENCE IN SESSION

This photograph was taken just after Chairman William H. Johnston had called the Conference for Progressive Political Action to order in the Cleveland Auditorium, or Public Hall, as Clevelanders prefer to call it.

The gathering place is the same in which the Republican convention was held nearly a month ago.

Despite the hall's enormous size the main floor was pretty well filled with delegates, spectators and newspaper representatives, and there was even a sprinkling in the galleries.

CALVIN COOLIDGE JR. DESCRIBED AS TYPICAL AMERICAN BOY, WHO WORKED ON FARM DURING VACATION

Washington, July 8.—Calvin Coolidge, Jr., was a typical American boy, mischievous and full of vigor, but in public almost quiet and demure. He always was the first with a hearty laugh, however, at the slightest provocation.

"He has a remarkably sweet disposition for a boy," a close friend of the family remarked recently, "but make no mistake about it, he's all boy."

Calvin was born April 13, 1908, at Northampton, Mass., and went through the grade schools of that city and then entered the high school, completing the first year when his father had come to Washington as vice-president, in 1921. Both he and his brother, John, who is 17 years of age, the next year entered Mercersburg Academy at Mercersburg, Pa., John being graduated last month, while Calvin had another year before him. John is to enter Amherst, the president's alma mater, this fall, and Calvin was to have followed him.

Excellent Student and Debater

An excellent student, usually ranking high in his class, Calvin was bright and studious but not a "crammer" in the schoolboy sense of studiousness. He also was a good debater and had qualified for the academy debating team. He was interested in athletics, but his slight build kept him from making any records along that line, although he was an enthusiastic tennis and baseball player.

Summer vacations usually found Calvin with his brother, John, at their grandfather's home in Plymouth, Vermont, but last summer John attended the Military Training Camp at Camp Devens, Mass., while Calvin worked on a farm in the Connecticut valley of western Massachusetts.

It was when at this work after his father had become president, his employer said to him excitedly, "so your father is president of the United States," and the boy replied, "Yes, sir, I suppose he is. What do you want me to tackle today?"

He had taken employment under contract and refused to break it to come to Washington in the interesting days his father's assumption of the chief magistracy, preferring to complete the task to which he had signed himself.

This summer vacation, however, the boys came to the White House but had planned to leave in a few days to attend the military training camp at Camp Devens.

As sons of the president, John and Calvin had felt responsibility, but to a casual observer they would have appeared as any American boys and this was the ideal for which their parents carefully trained them. It was the wish of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge that the boys be considered from an unofficial standpoint and as any other boys. For this reason they did not permit ostensible bulletins to be issued on the condition of Calvin and not until last Thursday when his case had taken a really serious turn, did they make known his illness.

Following domestic incompatibility as a result of his wife's curled hair, it was said, Mrs. Sparkman left her husband, taking the child. Later Sparkman recovered the daughter and placed her in his mother's home. Mrs. Sparkman filed petition for a writ of habeas corpus and the lower court ordered Sparkman to produce the child. This order met reversal in the appellate tribunal.

Calvin Coolidge Jr. Loses Courageous Struggle

The Coolidge boy suffered a primary wound in the heel, Dr. Stackhouse said. It probably did not appear to amount to much. Germs, however, entered the blood stream and attacked the whole system.

"A condition developed which we know as a general sepsis," said Dr. Stackhouse, "may develop from any small wound which is infected."

More times than not such poison is arrested, but in the case of the wound of the Coolidge boy, basing an opinion on the newspaper description of the injury, by the time the boy became sick the poison had entered the blood stream and could not be arrested, Dr. Stackhouse said.

Amputation is some cases is effective, but in the case of the Coolidge boy it would have been unavailing, he said. Once the poison had permeated the whole bloodstream it became a question of the boy's vitality against the poison.

HUSBAND SURRENDERS TO POLICE THINKING HE HAD KILLED HER

Pine City, Minn., July 8.—Charged with assault with intent to kill his wife, Gust Anderson, member of the Pine county board, waived preliminary examination before Judge C. F. Stephan, yesterday and was bound over to the grand jury which meets in October.

In the meantime, Anderson was removed to the Washington county jail at Stillwater. Bail was not set.

Anderson, who is alleged to have attacked his wife with a club while she lay asleep in bed at their home early Sunday, drove to the local police station and surrendered himself.

Authorities say he was under the impression his wife was dead and went to give himself up.

Mrs. Anderson is in a local hospital in a critical condition.

COURT UPHOLDS PLEA FOR WIFE'S OBEDIENCE

Montgomery, Ala., July 8. (A. P.)—The age-old marriage vow containing the word "obey," fast tending toward obsolescence, was given an interpretation with "teeth" by the Alabama court of appeals when it upheld, in effect, the right of a husband to object to his wife's employment of adventuresome aids to her supposedly natural beauty.

It is the imperative duty of a man's wife to obey, the court held. The wife in question had curled her hair against the expressed wish of her husband.

In rendering the opinion, the court also decided it not only was the right but the duty of the husband, in absence of proof of bad character, to fix the domicile of his children, irrespective of the mother's wishes.

The ruling was made in reversing a lower court which had issued a writ of habeas corpus to Mrs. Macon Sparkman to recover custody of her daughter.

PROPOSES THAT N.P. CANDIDATES RESIGN PLACES

Griggs County Paper Suggests That They Quit Republican Column

The Griggs County Sentinel-Courier, one of the Nonpartisan League papers in the state, suggests that all the League candidates nominated at the primary convention resign, and run as independents in the Independent column.

Whether the Sentinel-Courier represents the predominating views of the leaders of the League organization is not known, and it does not pretend that it does. Objections to this plan would be that it would endanger the success of the League candidates who were nominated, but the Sentinel-Courier says that these candidates are not tied to any particular party, neither is the League organization, and that there can be no pride in the League candidates running under a Republican heading. "The best interests of the League are not involved in either of the old parties. It owes nothing to either party. Its best interests call for a complete divorce from both the old parties," says the Sentinel-Courier.

The suggestion is further made that Sorlie and the other League candidates should make the race in the Independent column in which the name of LaFollette "will appear upon the ballot in November as an independent," candidate for the presidency.

League legislative candidates and candidates for congress, would all thus be found in one column on the ballot.

It remains to be seen what further steps will be taken in the matter by the League organization as LaFollette has announced his candidacy as a third party leader for the presidency. The idea involved in the above suggestion is to try to elect all the candidates of the League who lost out in the primary, and also to secure control of the affairs of North Dakota through full control of the industrial commission which the League lost in the primary.

ASTOUNDING ATTENUATION POSSIBLE

Baltimore, July 8. (A. P.)—A drug of such tremendous power that it is used in a ratio of one part in 18,750,000,000 of solution has been produced by Dr. John J. Abel, professor of pharmacology at the Medical School of Johns Hopkins University, it has been announced. It is a tartrate compound extracted from the pituitary gland of cattle and is used in obstetrics and as a specific for diabetes insipidus. One ounce of this tartrate, it is said, would turn all the water in a one-foot pipe line running from New York to San Francisco, into pituitary extract.

The pituitary gland lies in a bony cavity at the base of the brain and controls functions of growth. Its disorders are regarded as the cause of such human abnormalities as those of the circus giants. Dr. Abel is endeavoring to isolate the absolutely pure principle of the pituitary organ so that its effects can be studied with exactness. He was the first to do this, according to the university, in the case of epinephrine (adrenalin), the product of the adrenal glands.

German Shoemakers Pay Help in Stock

Pirmasens, Germany, July 8.—When payday came around in this shoe manufacturing town recently, the factory owners were up against it for cash. The scarcity of liquid capital is quite as acute in the shoe industry as it is in any branch of German trade.

A novel way was sought out of the dilemma. Instead of paying the men off in marks, they gave them each a pair of shoes as part payment of their wages.

An hour later virtually the whole shoe working population had been transformed into a sales aggregation. From store to store wandered heads of families, trying to dispose of their pair of shoes in return for things to eat.

Magyars Are Slow To Honor Pope

Budapest, July 8. (A. P.)—The memory of a 17th century Pope is to be honored by a monument in a public square in the capital of Hungary. This belated recognition is offered to the memory of Pope Innocent XI in return for the valuable help he rendered the Magyars over 200 years ago in their struggles against the Turks. The memorial will be erected in the square where once an old fortress stood. The inception of the scheme is due to Cardinal Cernoch, who desired to commemorate his golden mass in this way.

REV. VERMILYA IS MOVING TO NEW POSITION

Former M. E. District Superintendent Is Secretary for Home Missions

FAMILY IN CITY

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Vermilya and daughters, Misses Marjorie and Mildred, are in Bismarck for a day or two visiting friends on their way from Palo Alto, Cal., to their future home in New York City. Rev. Vermilya was made executive secretary of the Home Missions Council a few months ago but is just now removing to his headquarters in New York City. The council which he heads is made up of the secretaries of home mission boards of 22 denominations, and its object is to promote cooperation between denominations in the expenditure of money, and in the distribution of men.

Dr. Vermilya is spending some time in the state cooperating with the state denominational leaders, and the representatives of the several denominational boards in putting on a joint field study. He will be in North Dakota for about two days, and will then go to Washington for similar work, after which he will join his family in Ohio and they will go to New York.

Harold Vermilya, who has been coaching at Washington for the past year, joined the family here and will accompany them to New York. The entire trip from California is being made in a Studebaker limousine, the family camping wherever tourist camps are provided. They visited Yosemite National Park, Crater Lake, Yellowstone national park, going the Columbia highway from Oregon. Before entering Oregon, they were required to be disinfected from the foot and mouth disease, all travelers from California being required to do so.

Found Paved Roads
From Palo Alto to Portland, they found the roads paved almost all the way, and also in northern Idaho the highways were in wonderful condition. Starting on their trip June 27, they have averaged about 250 miles a day when not making any stops, and have already traveled over 3,200 miles.

"Everywhere the tourist camps are almost luxuriously equipped," said Mrs. Vermilya, "but nowhere more so than in Oregon. In the McDowell camp we found cottages to rent, furnished with gas stoves, electric lights, and every convenience. And all the camps were crowded with tourists."

"The Vermilyas will visit friends in Valley City, and will camp at Walker, Minn., for some time, and will visit relatives in Ohio."

In New York, Miss Marjorie and Mildred, who will both be juniors next year, will enter Columbia, as will Harold Vermilya, who will take postgraduate work.

Verilya and his family are well known in Bismarck, as he was district superintendent of the Methodist church here for four years.

Seeks Cooperation
"After a number of years of experience as a district superintendent and representative of the board of home missions of the Methodist church in the West, I am convinced that the time is here when the various denominations must find a way through cooperation to provide Christian service in many of the smaller and weaker communities," said Dr. Vermilya. "The solution of this does not seem to lie in the Union church, but in the division of territory whereby Christian forces retain connection with the world service program and prevent the increase of church organizations as the Union movement seems to be encouraging."

TAKES CHARGE OF CLINIC

Dr. L. O. Simonstad who has been connected with the city and county hospital in St. Paul arrived in the city yesterday to take charge of the traveling clinic sent out by the Tuberculosis Association during the summer months. He will be assisted in his work by Edgar Gaither, tuberculosis nurse and they left this morning for Oliver County, where they will hold a series of ten clinics over the county. From there they will go to Billings and Hottelville counties and will spend the greater part of the summer in the western counties. The traveling clinic has met a need in the isolated rural communities especially among the children and this year it is the plan to do more intensive work along the line of tuberculosis.

At The Movies

AT THE CAPITOL
To all those people who like a good, holding story in their film-fare, who are not contented with the facial contortions of pretty stars but who demand intelligent acting and artistic dressing of a production, we recommend "Innocence," as a mighty fine motion picture. Anna Q. Nilsson is featured in the production, which opened for a two-day run at the Capitol Theatre last night. By her work in "Innocence," she proves once again our own contention that she is one of the best actresses on the screen.

THE ELTINGE

The story of "The Marriage Cheat" which shows at the Eltinge theatre Wednesday and Thursday, relates the adventures of a civilized young woman, pretty and rich, who is cast upon an island through a remarkable accident, and there finds her love that civilization has denied her. Adolphe Menjou, Lestrade Joy and Percy Marmont are three of the

SMALL-BOYS OF CITY AGOG AS CIRCUS PREPARES ITS DESCENT ON BISMARCK

KENNETH WAITE

Clown with Robbins Brothers circus coming tomorrow. He was badly injured in a Hagenbeck-Wallace circus train wreck, but has come back to the "big top" which is his real home.

"C'mon, Skinny! Let's get up and see the circus come in."

And Skinny will have to get up early, for the circus—Robbins Brothers—is coming in at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning on the South Sea, and will unload in the Soo line yards, according to F. Robert Saul, advance agent for the show, here today. The exact place of the performance to be given by the circus tomorrow afternoon and night had not been fixed early today. But there will be a parade at 11 a. m., Mr. Saul said.

Things have changed in the circus business according to the press agent, who is in the city today. The old days of skillful crews of tent peg drivers, straining lines of horses drawing big wagons from the trains, and the elephants boosting heavy trucks about have passed according to the agent. But equally interesting is the new method of unloading the circus and putting up the big tent.

Here is the 1924 method of doing it. A large motor driven spool winds and unwinds the canvas for the tents; large motor tractors haul as many as five wagons at one time, and the steam pile-driver hammers the stakes into the ground. The Robbins Brothers circus will show both afternoon and evening favorites in the cost. There is no spot on the globe which possesses such an atmosphere of romance as the South Sea Islands. For many decades, novelists, composers, poets and painters have found their inspiration in those parts of the Pacific, with the result that the mere mention of them stirs up in one's imagination visions of moon bathed beaches, palms gently swayed by the sweet-scented zephyrs and native girls dancing to the strains of sensuous music.

PLAN FIGHT FOR CONGRESS
LaFollette National Manager Announces Plan
Chicago, July 8.—A militant campaign to support congressional candidates interested in the forces of Senator W. LaFollette of Wisconsin with the primary effort to elect a presidential and national ticket is planned by Rep. John W. Nelson of the Third Wisconsin District, who has opened national headquarters here and assumed charge of the LaFollette presidential campaign.

"We expect to support progressive irrespective of parties," he said. "We intend insofar as possible to avoid taking on the burden of any state, county or legislative candidacy. But we are much interested in maintaining our balance of power in both houses of Congress. Selection of vice-presidential candidate will not be settled upon until after the Democratic convention, he said."

MANY FILL OUT BLANKS

Avail Themselves of Legion's Adjusted Compensation Service
Many ex-service men availed themselves of the opportunity of getting aid in filling out their application blanks for the adjusted compensation voted by Congress, at the Legion headquarters in a vacant store room in the Webb block on Main street last night. The office maintained by the Lloyd Spetz Post for all ex-service men will be open every night this week and Saturday afternoon.

Those who volunteered their services last night in helping ex-service men make out their applications were Norman Flow, Philip Elton, Spencer Boise and L. P. Warren and tonight the office will be in charge of C. J. Haugh, Phil Webb, John Russell and F. L. Page.

Some ex-service men are under the impression that application blanks are not on hand at the office. This is a mistake, Adjutant Warren of the Legion post said today. Every thing needed in filling out the applications is to be found at the office.

The Legionnaires particularly invite dependent relatives of service men who died to come in and have their applications made out. These relatives are to be compensated in cash.

Bobby Discovers Missing Father

By HAROLD CARTER

Bobby was lost. It is very hard to be lost when you are only five years old and have gone out into the world to find a father.

He held the scrap of paper which was to be a talisman in his hand. He had taken that from his mother's desk when she was in the other room. He knew that this would help him to find a father such as he had always wanted.

Suddenly Bobby's legs gave out. He was tired and bewildered by the rush of traffic and the busy pedestrians.

He sat down upon the curb and rubbed his eyes with two grimy little hands, and still he could not rub the tears away.

"What's the matter?" asked a big policeman, striding up to him. "Are you lost, boy?"

Bobby handed him the piece of paper. The policeman looked at it and whistled.

"Mr. Swanscott?" he ejaculated. "Saints alive! Is he your daddy?"

Bobby nodded dubiously. The policeman picked him up and carried him across the street to a big building and spoke to the porter. The porter took Bobby to the door of a little room that was moving up and up.

Upstairs John Swanscott was holding a company meeting. The director were all assembled and ready to begin business. John Swanscott walked restlessly about the room that day. He was thinking of the girl's wife who had left him five years before because—because—

Well, he had tried to find her many times. But Hilda's pride had lent her power to evade him, and he had learned nothing. He did not know, for instance, that he was the father.

But with the shrewd instinct of five years Bobby had long ago divined that something was the matter with mother. True, he did not know that mothers ought not to cry at night, and sometimes during the day as well; it was only a subtle instinct that informed him how happy he would be, and mother, too, if he could bring home a father.

He had noticed particularly that the piece of paper with the name on it was treasured, and that often mother took it out of the desk drawer and began to write a letter, and that she always ended by tearing up the paper on which she had written, and throwing the pieces into the basket.

Ah, well, it was not necessary for John Swanscott to know all this. He had troubles enough. He had thrown himself unreservedly into his work, an embittered man, and not a very generous one. The name of Swanscott had become feared in Wall street. There was not one of the directors, who stood nervously about the room, who was not afraid of him.

"The meeting is called, gentlemen," he said—and just then a clerk came in through the private door.

"To see me!" exclaimed John Swanscott incredulously. "The porter, did you say?" Then anger got the better of him. "Did you tell him I had a company meeting?" he began.

And just then a dirty little boy with a tear-stained face and grimy hands that clutched a scrap of paper, came toddling into the room.

Bobby looked around gravely, and he stared into the face of each of the amused directors in turn before planting himself upon his sturdy little legs in front of Swanscott.

"Well, sir, what can I do for you?" inquired Swanscott gravely. "Have you come to attend the meeting of this company?"

"Yes," answered Bobby, with equal gravity. "I want a father."

The words stung Swanscott to the quick. He stared at the little boy, and the directors, each of whom knew the tragic story of Swanscott's life though he did not know they knew, tried to suppress their interest.

"So you have come to me to find a father for you, have you?" inquired the president. "What is that you have in your hand, young man?"

Bobby stretched out his hand and offered him the paper, with the assurance of five years old. Swanscott took it and gave an involuntary start.

It was Hilda's handwriting that he saw before his eyes. It was impossible to mistake that. How many times had he not seen it upon those letters at home, every one of which he had read so often that he knew it by heart!

"Mother is always crying because I haven't a father," exclaimed Bobby. "She cried all night, and sometimes she writes things on a piece of paper and then tears it up and frowns it away. So I thought—I thought I would get a father."

John Swanscott looked around him, and suddenly a warm sense of humanity filled his shrunken heart. And the directors, seeing the look upon the face drew together into a corner.

"What is your name?" asked Swanscott of the boy. "Bobby?" That was his name—his second name, and it had been arranged that if there were a boy he was to inherit. Swanscott reached for his hat.

"Well, Bobby, I guess you have found one," he answered. "Gentlemen," he added, turning to the directors, "there will be no company meeting today."

New York, July 8. (A. P.)—Graduates of New York City high schools throughout the United States are being considered for the first award of the Alfred C. Bossom gold medal.

The gold medal is similar in design to the Bossom silver medal, which for the last two years has been given to undergraduates of the New York City high schools who have distinguished themselves in the practical application of their studies of government in terms of service.

Candidates for the gold medal, which will be formally awarded next fall, may live in any part of the country.

The committee which will make the award, realizing that within a few years the boys and girls of today will hold the reins of government throughout the world, seeks in this way to develop the power and ability of the younger generation for participation in government.

BOY DROWNED IN RESERVOIR

Fargo, July 8.—Wesley Ackerson, 21, of Arthur, was drowned in the railroad reservoir at Prosper at 3:30 yesterday while he and several companions were seeking to reach shore in a leaky boat. Members of the Cass county sheriff's department and of the Cassellton fire department recovered the body at about 10 p. m. last night.

One of Ackerson's companions attempted to push the boat to shore while swimming behind it, and the drowned man is believed to have jumped from the craft as it approached the shore. He was unable to swim and sank in the reservoir which is about 20 feet deep.

The dead youth is a son of Louis Ackerson, farmer near Arthur. Funeral services will be held at the Herby Norwegian Lutheran church near Arneria.

Hazel Huntton, 19, went from Boston to Coos county, N. H., in search of adventure. And from all reports she found it. She is being held in jail at Groveton in connection of Mrs. Katherine Wallace, 25.

Authorities charge the girl, whom neighbors say is a rum runner, and three male companions quarreled with Mrs. Wallace over their alleged bootleg activities.

Trade Unions of Germany Thank British Colleagues

London, June 8. (A. P.)—The British Trades Union congress has earned the gratitude of the German General Federation of Trades Unions, for their moral and other help in strengthening the German workers against their employers.

A letter from Herr Lelpart, secretary of the German federation, to their English fellow-workers conveyed "the hearty thanks of German Trade unionism to the English Trade unions for their willing and self-sacrificing help, without which we certainly should not have been able, as we now are, energetically to oppose the employers in their attempts to lower the conditions of labor."

Everywhere in Germany, Herr Lelpart continued, the struggle for increased wages has been initiated despite the attack on the eight-hour day by the employers. The majority of German workers still have an eight-hour day, and he is confident they will be able to reestablish it where it has been lost if an understanding with France on the basis of the experts' report is reached.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

MR. MCADOO'S DECLINE

William G. McAdoo entered the Democratic National Convention with more delegates pledged than any other candidate and with an organization that gave him the best chance for the nomination. After two weeks of struggle in New York he is weaker than when he went there. When the balloting resumed today he seemed unlikely to get the nomination; if he does, he has done himself irreparable injury as a candidate.

Mr. McAdoo went into the primaries wherever possible. He had a good organization, a big and expensive one. He almost literally marched his phalanx to the ballot box with the blare of a band. He descended on New York with a gusto, and he popped up here and there to make speeches to his well trained followers. He took the spirit of the movies with him to New York from California. Or like a Don Quixote he attacked mythical enemies with all the fervor of one in a hallucination.

Mr. McAdoo's methods failed. In spite of his apparent intention of sweeping the convention off its feet he did not do so. Although the primary system has taken away from the campaign for presidential nominations much of the dignity formerly attached to them, the people apparently resent the band wagon methods of Mr. McAdoo. Likewise the convention refused to be bulldozed by Al Smith's east side followers in New York, who hurled their insults from the galleries to the delegates.

The whole course of the Democratic convention has been a great disappointment to the people at large. The handling of the McAdoo and Smith campaign has hardly been more offensive than the attitude of favorite son delegations, who blindly stuck their heads in the sand and continued to vote for them when there was apparently not the slightest hope for many of them.

Too many of the delegates appeared to believe that their chief mission in New York was to set a long distance record for stubbornness, or to force their own favorite on the convention, rather than seriously choosing the man who would best weld the party's interests and make an acceptable president.

CHINESE

Canada recently ordered all its Chinese residents to register with the immigration authorities. They must furnish their personal history and photographs and prove that they are not in the country illegally. It is suspected that, since they look so much alike, when Mr. Link Cuff returns to China Mr. Bow Wow returns on Link Cuff's passports.

Periodical registration of all residents will inevitably come in America. When we're all compelled to "show our papers" on demand, flitting criminals will be more easily apprehended.

BUGHOUSE

Many of our young people have acquired the "moving picture mind." All life to them is a series of snap-shots, with no chance for a time exposure. Hence they cannot think straight on any subject. They are a bundle of transient impressions and confused ideas.

President Faunce of Brown University says this. It is a new idea, vivid and correct. Modern life is a kaleidoscope of fleeting impressions. The old-timers had fewer things of interest and got closer to things basic. Ours is a generation of surface thinkers.

DEADLY

Uncle Sam occasionally is a gentleman of easy-going morals when there's money in it for him. He used to be the silent partner of the saloon business, collecting much revenue from liquor.

The Internal Revenue Bureau, listing taxable articles, includes bowie knives, brass knuckles, daggers and sword canes. In a none too roundabout way, this is partnership with crime, for these articles usually are the tools of crime.

FLIGHT

Snowball, a prize Persian cat of Springfield, Mass., disappeared just before last Christmas. It's discovered he fled from the pampered life of a prize pussy, to run wild in the woods.

Civilization is unnatural, as much so for people as for cats. That's why nature incessantly makes it harder to earn a living and be healthy in the city. She's trying to break up the cities. The airplane will help her, enabling people to live hundreds of miles from where they work.

TOUCH

The farmer has been getting only 31 per cent more for his crops from the average acre of land than he got in 1913. But he has been paying 86 per cent more for the things he buys than in 1913.

These figures, from National Industrial Conference Board, tell the whole story of the farmers' plight. The scales will balance in time. But not by any sudden event, situation or legislation.

BACK

Belgium, shot to pieces by the war, is lately making more iron and steel than in 1913—before the war started.

This is only one instance of thousands, showing that Europe is getting back on its feet. Politicians failed at the Reconstruction began with the farmer. It will be completed by industries. After all, politicians are not much use except to start wars, levy taxes and spout oratory.

Breaking of horses, the Prince of Wales' hobby is horses. But this is one hobby he can't ride.

Anything can happen these days. A prominent movie star says she is not contemplating divorce.

THE POLITICAL STRENGTH OF LABOR'S LEADERS

The Cleveland radical conference has endorsed Senator LaFollette's independent presidential candidacy, and he will now proceed to pick his running mate. We hope this high honor goes to Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. We think it would do the country good to learn just how far organized labor is ready to go at the call of its leaders.

Union members of course are willing to follow their leaders on labor matters. They are willing to obey orders as to wage demands, strikes, and other tactical matters. But that they are willing to obey as a unit, or as any approximation to a unit, in political matters has not been demonstrated; and we think a clear demonstration of the extent of their obedience would be beneficial.

The extent of their obedience would be clearly demonstrated if Mr. Stone went on the ticket with Senator LaFollette and if Mr. McAdoo were rejected by the Democratic convention. Nobody has any serious thought that Mr. LaFollette can be elected. But it would make a vast difference in his showing if Mr. McAdoo is nominated, for Mr. McAdoo is railroad labor's candidate; and the strongest LaFollette support comes from railroad labor.

Were Mr. McAdoo nominated, the railroad labor vote would be divided. We should like to see it concentrated behind Senator LaFollette and Mr. Stone. And inasmuch as Mr. Stone is friendly with the American Federation of Labor, the LaFollette-Stone ticket would receive as much strength as the leaders of organized labor could command.

We think the country ought to know just what that strength is. How far will organized labor, and especially railroad labor, obey its union leaders in political matters? The United States now has the best railroad service in its history. It is the best railroad service any country has ever had. For the first time in history, American railroads have been able to go through their peak period—the period of crop movements—and give 100 per cent service. So there is there any car shortage problem. In the face of tremendous obstacles in the past-war years, the railroads have made this magnificent progress.

Will railroad labor vote as a unit to check that progress? Will it vote for the LaFollette program of making an enormous reduction in the valuations of the railroads and of making a corresponding reduction in the net return which the railroads are permitted to earn?

Such reductions would prevent the carriers from refunding their bond issues as these came due. It would probably throw the railroads into bankruptcy. It would murder their credit. The monstrous results would be felt by the entire country; but it would be felt especially by the railroad stockholders and the railroad bondholders, and immediately after them, by railroad labor.

That is the meaning of the LaFollette-Stone program. Will railroad labor blindly follow its blind leaders? Will all organized labor follow?

The LaFollette-Stone ticket would allow the union leaders to reveal their undivided strength at its utmost. The country needs to know just what that strength is.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Nancy and Nick were surprised when Mister Zip, their new little fairy friend, took them to the edge of the woods and showed them where his new amusement park was.

There it was, with a big sign over the gate which said "Happy-Go-Lucky Park. Come In." "Can anybody go in?" asked Nancy. "Anybody who wants to?" "Sure!" nodded Mister Zip. "Anybody who has 10 cents. But it takes more to get out than it does to get in."

"Why?" asked Nick in surprise. "Oh, because!" said Mister Zip. "When people come they want to try everything and buy everything and it costs money. I'm not as young as I used to be and so I decided that I had better make my fortune. This is the way I'm going to do it."

"Who is coming to your park?" asked Nancy. "Well," said Mister Zip, sticking his tongue into his cheek and looking wise, "everybody. I hope. I thought I would let Nick do my advertising and pass around bills telling all about the park and having pictures on the bills. Just like circuses have pictures pasted up everywhere to let people know about it."

"Hooryay!" cried Nick. "I'd like that!" "The Fairy Queen said that you Twins knew where all the wood people lived," went on Mister Zip. "Is that so? And the meadow people and barnyard people?"

"Yes," said Nick. "I know. I thought I would help Nick to pass the bills around." "Yes, indeed!" said Mister Zip. "Here they are."

And opening a box he took out a lot of bills with printing on them. Some were red and some green and some yellow and some blue.

"Oh, aren't they lovely!" exclaimed Nancy. "I know all the people will like them. But I'll have to be careful not to give Billy Bull a red one. He hates red so."

"Huh! What's that?" cried Mister Zip. "Billy Bull, did you say? We

FABLES ON HEALTH

BREATHE DEEP, OFTEN

"A lot of you birds figure that if you take 10 deep breaths with your daily dozen each morning you've given your lungs all they've got coming to 'em," a physical director once reminded Mr. Jones of Anytown.

Taking a half dozen deep breaths during an exercise and then forgetting all about doing it for the rest of the day is a relatively ridiculous plan.

Not only should deep breathing exercises be taken some time during the day, but whenever the out-of-doors is reached by shut-ins it should be the signal for a series of long breaths.

And for the office-bound here's a tip: go to the open window every once in a while and get a good lung full.

First, get the habit from a series of exercises; then keep at it during the day.

One physician has said that a hundred deep breaths a day would keep away tuberculosis.

Also it's good in nervous conditions. But it's a mighty fine habit for everyone to get into.

Hollywood, July 8.—A few more natural color films like Paramount's "Wanderer of the Wasteland" are likely to spoil audiences for black and white.

Ravishing the eye with its reflection of nature's own complexion, this technicolor product heralds the dawn of the movie's tint cycle.

First feature length picture wholly done in hue, it dissipates several objections hitherto set up against such innovation. Color handled as it is in "Wanderer of the Wasteland" does not distract from the drama. Nor does it tend to destroy illusion.

On the contrary, these elements are enhanced. There is a closer approach to reality.

It is like opening a window in the theater, in place of the interposed screen.

The fuzzy edge and blotchy jump of first color film experiments has been wholly eliminated.

During the novelty period audiences will have to get accustomed to tint just as they had to get used to pictures that moved in the first place. But eventually, inevitably, all films will be made in color.

Paramount, for its first venture, wisely selected Zane Grey's story of the desert. The setting in the painted, rugged country adjacent to Death Valley is peculiarly fit for such treatment.

And Irvin Willat, director, is to be congratulated for subordinating neither color nor dramatic values, one to the other.

Jack Holt is the "Wanderer." Believing he has slain his brother, he takes refuge in the wasteland, where he lives a primitive life and meets weird adventure.

The most fantastic is an encounter with a jealous maniac who has taken his wife to the sandy solitudes to hide her from imaginary lovers.

The maniac destroys both himself and the woman with a rock avalanche. These parts are respectively played by George Irving and Kathryn Williams, and very well played.

Noah Beery is a desert rat who befriends the "Wanderer" and is in turn saved by the latter from gold mine bandits.

The romantic element is contributed by Holt and Billie Dove. Beery's is his best performance—unless I have been tricked to that opinion by color photography.

THE PRICE YOU PAY

By Albert Apple

No matter what we get in life, we pay for it. Nature never gives something for nothing. Whenever we acquire anything, we lose an equivalent something.

Take the family that was poor until the war came and made them rich. Their wealth has brought wonderful things into their lives. But they have lost things that cannot be measured in dollars—including association with intimate friends of the old days, and the joys of simple pleasures.

Maybe they are happier than they were back in the days when a dollar looked as big as a wagon wheel. If so, they are being rewarded for enduring past misery.

The law of compensation—cause and effect—always balances the scales in the long run. The weights that balance the scales are not always visible to outsiders. But it takes a lot of ill-gotten gains to compensate for remorse, shame or an uneasy conscience.

Possibly shame, even conscience, is lacking in some hearts during life. But no one knows what thoughts and feelings are at the instant of death. Nor the price that is collected beyond the grave from people who dodge payment in this life.

Most of the discomforts and reputed loneliness of bachelor life vanish when we marry. But we soon find that we have acquired new burdens and worries.

Observe the mother, slave to her baby. She is paying for the maternal joy that has come into her life.

Ponder the man who flees from the congestion, stench and irritation of the city. In the wilderness or on a farm he has freedom, elbow-room, fresh air, peace. And he pays the price by not having the conveniences and excitement of the metropolis.

Even knowledge has its price—intense study and surrender of time that might be spent in pleasure.

We pay in full. When we get a thing we lose its equivalent. At the end of the road, old and successful, we look back and would trade it all for youth. Something for nothing? Never!

CO-OPERATIVES TO MEET

A general meeting of co-operatives representatives is to take place at Cleveland, O., August 11 to 16, at which the entire co-operative field will be canvassed, and their problems discussed. At the same time a complete course of study will be planned for an international institute on co-operation to be held in the summer of 1925.

Army statistics credit the German super-gun that pounded Paris during the World War with a range of 75 miles.

DEMOCRACY GOES AWOOLING FOR THE FEMALE VOTE

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

New York, July 8.—Democracy has gone awooling. It's out to capture the ladies. And if the female in politics is half as susceptible to blishments and beguilements as she is supposed to be in matters of the heart, the feminine vote may cut a considerable figure in the final count for political offices this fall.

The share accorded to women, in the Democratic convention, was in striking contrast to the extent of participation that was permitted them in the Republican gathering at Cleveland.

Not only were they given greater representation, numerically, in the field of delegates and alternates, but in all the convention activities they were allowed a freer hand and wielded a wider influence than was yielded them at any stage of the Cleveland proceedings.

These special courtesies to the ladies are counted on not merely to help the Democratic presidential ticket, but to be a big factor on the congressional and senatorial campaigns.

For control of the legislative and by an effective majority is no less important to the party's program than the election of their man as the executive head of the government.

And aggressive assistance by women workers, it is conceded, can be particularly helpful in the local congressional fight where feminine, church, club and social pressures can best be exerted.

In this move, Democrats hope to cash in on the campaign already in full swing by the National League of Women Voters, for greater political participation by women.

The League's campaign is political, but non-partisan. It stakes no part in boosting the candidates of any party. It is committed to issues of particular interest to women including child labor and the prevention of war, but the main drive of its present campaign is to stimulate women's interest in politics to the point where they will get out and vote.

In this connection, The League points out that, even in the eligible voters of the nation went to the polls on election day. The total vote cast, it claims, was but 49 per cent of the number that would have been cast had every elector exercised his or her right of suffrage.

The result, although an overwhelming victory for the Republicans on the basis of the votes registered, was actually an election by a minority—by less than one-third of the nation's qualified voters, in fact.

The League has set itself the task of getting out at least 75 per cent of the total eligible vote this fall. If it succeeds even half way in its effort, the number of ballots cast this fall will exceed the 26,786,000 votes cast in 1920 by more than 7,100,000. If it reached the goal of 75 per cent, the total vote next Nov. 4 would exceed 51,000,000.

The party that can pull the biggest part of the increased vote the League's campaign promises to bring to the polls is the party most likely to walk away with the election.

And this is the vote the Democrats are out to capture. They believe it is, to a very large extent, the feminine vote. Therefore the special attentions given the ladies—even to the extent of proposing a woman candidate for vice president!

Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, economist and statistician, who has made a special study of election figures and percentages, says the usual presidential election is decided by a switch of less than 5 per cent of the votes cast.

If the women can bring to the Democrats that necessary 5 per cent, then the political gallantry of the Democratic leaders will have won its suit.

Bismarck Boys

The boys who were out on the Heart River for a week end camp with Mr. MacLeod returned yesterday afternoon. They report a great time and some are planning to return with the bunch who go out next Friday. The Juneberry bushes are loaded and will be ripe in a couple of days. The boys marveled at the amount of worms, insects, moths, and flies devoured by three little feathered families in the vicinity of the camp. The red-headed woodpecker brought his special diet from across the river and in the early morning or evening feeding was seldom away longer than three minutes. The orioles found their choice morsel in the trees on both sides of the river and our presence did not seem to disturb them in the least. An unsolved mystery was the tracks in the sand about our camp kitchen each morning. The week end camps enables Mr.

MacLeod to be in the city for playgrounds and swimming classes during the week.

Boys desiring to go out with the next camp should see Mr. MacLeod not later than Thursday noon.

Playgrounds

The Rieholt playground was a busy place last evening. The east end are taking quite an interest in their little folks and it is splendid to see so many older folks getting fun out of the Playground games. Tonight there will be play at the Wm. Moore grounds in the north and at the Wichter in the south.

TUNICS LONGER

Tunics are growing in favor and are very long, showing but a small section of the sheathlike skirt beneath.

LACE TO MATCH

Frocks of organdie or crepe in pinkish blue are trimmed with dyed lace to match and mounted on slips of sheath-pink satin.

HAIR-STRAW HATS

Picture hats of hair-straw, slightly drooped by the weight of a few large flowers will be worn with light, sheer frocks.

BUCKSKINS POPULAR

Buckskin shoes are popular for sports wear.

Juice Of Lemon Whitens The Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug-gist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

(Established 1873)

MR. McADOO'S DECLINE

William G. McAdoo entered the Democratic National Convention with more delegates pledged than any other candidate and with an organization that gave him the best chance for the nomination. After two weeks of struggle in New York he is weaker than when he went there. When the balloting resumed today he seemed unlikely to get the nomination; if he does, he has done himself irreparable injury as a candidate.

Mr. McAdoo went into the primaries wherever possible. He had a good organization, a big and expensive one. He almost literally marched his phalanx to the ballot box with the blare of a band. He descended on New York with a gusto, and he popped up here and there to make speeches to his well trained followers. He took the spirit of the movies with him to New York from California. Or like a Don Quixote he attacked mythical enemies with all the fervor of one in an hallucination.

Mr. McAdoo's methods failed. In spite of his apparent intention of sweeping the convention off its feet he did not do so. Although the primary system has taken away from the campaign for presidential nominations much of the dignity formerly attached to them, the people apparently resent the hand wagon methods of Mr. McAdoo. Likewise the convention refused to be bulldozed by Al Smith's east side followers in New York, who hurled their insults from the galleries to the delegates.

The whole course of the Democratic convention has been a great disappointment to the people at large. The handling of the McAdoo and Smith campaign has hardly been more offensive than the attitude of favorite son delegations, who blindly stuck their heads in the sand and continued to vote for them when there was apparently not the slightest hope for many of them.

Too many of the delegates appeared to believe that their chief mission in New York was to set a long distance record for stubbornness, or to force their own favorite on the convention, rather than seriously choosing the man who would best weld the party's interests and make an acceptable president.

CHINESE

Canada recently ordered all its Chinese residents to register with the immigration authorities. They must furnish their personal history and photographs and prove that they are not in the country illegally. It is suspected that, since they look so much alike, when Mr. Link Cuff returns to China Mr. Bow Wow returns on Link Cuff's passport.

Periodical registration of all residents will inevitably come in America. When we're all compelled to "show our papers" on demand, fitting criminals will be more easily apprehended.

BUGHOUSE

Many of our young people have acquired the "moving picture mind." All life to them is a series of snap shots, with no chance for a time exposure. Hence they cannot think straight on any subject. They are a bundle of transient impressions and confused ideas.

President Faunce of Brown University says this. It is a new idea, vivid and correct. Modern life is a kaleidoscope of fleeting impressions. The old-timers had fewer things of interest and got closer to things basic. Ours is a generation of surface thinkers.

DEADLY

Uncle Sam occasionally is a gentleman of easy-going morals when there's money in it for him. He used to be the silent partner of the saloon business, collecting much revenue from liquor.

The Internal Revenue Bureau, listing taxable articles, includes bowie knives, brass knuckles, daggers and sword canes. In a none too roundabout way, this is partnership with crime, for these articles usually are the tools of crime.

FLIGHT

Snowball, a prize Persian cat of Springfield, Mass., disappeared just before last Christmas. It's discovered he fled from the pampered life of a prize pussy, to run wild in the woods.

Civilization is unnatural, as much so for people as for cats. That's why nature incessantly makes it harder to own a living and be healthy in the city. She's trying to break up the cities. The airplane will help her, enabling people to live hundreds of miles from where they work.

TOUCH

The farmer has been getting only 31 per cent more for his crops from the average acre of land than he got in 1913. But he has been paying 86 per cent more for the things he buys than in 1913.

These figures, from National Industrial Conference Board, tell the whole story of the farmers' plight. The scales will balance in time. But not by any sudden event, situation or legislation.

BACK

Belgium, shot to pieces by the war, is lately making more iron and steel than in 1913—before the war started. This is only one instance of Europe's getting back on its feet. Politicians failed at the Reconstruction began with the farmer. It will be completed by industries. After all, politicians are not much use except to start wars, levy taxes and spout oratory.

Speaking of horses, the Prince of Wales' hobby is horses. But this is one hobby he can't ride.

Anything can happen these days. A prominent movie star says she is not contemplating divorce.

THE POLITICAL STRENGTH OF LABOR'S LEADERS

The Cleveland radical conference has endorsed Senator LaFollette's independent presidential candidacy, and he will now proceed to pick his running mate. We hope this high honor goes to Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. We think it would do the country good to learn just how far organized labor is ready to go at the call of its leaders.

Many members of course are willing to follow their leaders on labor matters. They are willing to obey orders as to wage demands, strikes, and other tactical matters. But that they are willing to obey as a unit, in political matters has not been demonstrated; and we think a clear demonstration of the extent of their obedience would be beneficial.

The extent of their obedience would be clearly demonstrated if Mr. Stone went on the ticket with Senator LaFollette and if Mr. McAdoo were rejected by the Democratic convention. Nobody has any serious thought that Mr. LaFollette can be elected. But it would make a vast difference in his showing if Mr. McAdoo were nominated, for Mr. McAdoo is railroad labor's candidate; and the strongest LaFollette support comes from railroad labor.

Were Mr. McAdoo nominated, the railroad labor vote would be divided. We should like to see it concentrated behind Senator LaFollette and Mr. Stone. And as much as Mr. Stone is friendly with the American Federation of Labor, the LaFollette-Stone ticket would receive as much strength as the leaders of organized labor could command.

We think the country ought to know just what that strength is. How will organized labor, and especially railroad labor, obey its union leaders in political matters? The United States now has the best railroad service in its history. It has the best railroad service any country has ever had. For the first time in history, American railroads have been able to go through their peak period—the period of crop movements—and give 100 per cent service. No longer is there any car shortage problem. In the face of tremendous obstacles in the post-war years, the railroads have made this magnificent progress.

Will railroad labor vote as a unit to check that progress? Will it vote for the LaFollette program of making an enormous reduction in the valuations of the railroads and of making a corresponding reduction in the net return which the railroads are permitted to earn?

Such reductions would prevent the carriers from refunding their bond issues as these came due. It would probably throw the railroads into bankruptcy. It would murder their credit. The monstrous results would be felt by the entire country; but the railroad stockholders and the railroad bondholders, and immediately after them, by railroad labor.

That is the meaning of the LaFollette-Stone program. Will railroad labor blindly follow its leaders? Will all organized labor follow?

The LaFollette-Stone ticket would allow the union leaders to reveal their undivided strength at its utmost. The country needs to know just what that strength is. Chicago Journal of Commerce.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Nancy and Nick were surprised when Mister Zip, their new little fairy friend, took them to the edge of the woods and showed them where his new amusement park was.

There it was, with a big sign over the gate which said, "Happy-Go-Lucky Park. Come In."

"Can anybody go in?" asked Nancy. "Anybody who wants to."

"Sure!" nodded Mister Zip. "Anybody who has 10 cents. But it takes more to get out than it does to get in."

"Why?" asked Nick in surprise. "Oh, because!" said Mister Zip. "When people come they want to try everything and buy everything and it costs money. I'm not at all young as I used to be, so I decided that I had better make my fortune. This is the way I'm going to do it."

"Who is coming to your park?" asked Nancy. "Well," said Mister Zip, sticking his tongue into his cheek and looking wise, "everybody. I hope I thought would let Nick do my advertising and pass around pictures of all about the park and having pictures on the bills. Just like circus boys have pictures pasted on every where to let people know about it."

"Hooray!" cried Nick. "I'd like that."

"The Fairy Queen said that you two knew where all the good people lived, so she sent Mister Zip to take care of the park."

"Yes, we do know," said Nancy eagerly. "May I help Nick to pass the bills around?"

"Yes, indeed!" said Mister Zip. "Here they are."

And opening a box he took out a lot of bills with pictures on them. Some were green and some were blue and some were yellow and some were red.

"Oh, aren't they lovely!" exclaimed Nancy. "I know all the people who will like them. But I'll have to be careful not to give Billy Bull a red one. He hates red so."

"Huh! What's that?" cried Mister Zip. "Billy Bull, did you say? We

The Solution

FABLES ON HEALTH BREATHE DEEP, OFTEN

"A lot of you birds figure that if you take 10 deep breaths with your daily dozen each morning you've given your lungs all they've got coming to 'em," a physical director once reminded Mr. Jones of Anytown.

Taking a half dozen deep breaths during an exercise and then forgetting all about doing it for the rest of the day is a relatively ridiculous plan.

Not only should deep breathing exercises be taken some time during the day, but whenever the outdoors is reached by shut-ins it should be the signal for a series of long breaths.

And for the office-bound here's a tip: go to the open window every once in a while and get a good lung full.

First, get the habit from a series of exercises; then keep at it during the day.

One physician has said that a hundred deep breaths a day would keep away tuberculosis.

Also it's good in nervous conditions.

But it's a mighty fine habit for everyone to get into.

FIRST FEATURE-LENGTH COLOR MOVIE PRONOUNCED NATURE-LIKE SUCCESS

By Jack Jungmeyer
NEA Service Writer

Hollywood, July 8.—A few more natural color films like Paramount's "Wanderer of the Wasteland" are likely to spoil audiences for black and white.

Revising the eye with its reflection of nature's own complexion, the technical color picture heralds the dawn of the movie's tint cycle.

First feature length picture wholly done in hue, it dissipates several objections hitherto set up against such innovation. Color handled as it is in "Wanderer of the Wasteland" does not distract from the drama. Nor does it tend to destroy illusion. On the contrary, these elements are enhanced. There is a closer approach to reality.

It is like opening a window in the theater, in place of the interposed screen.

The fuzzy edge and blotchy jump of first color film experiments has been wholly eliminated.

During the novelty period audiences will have to grow accustomed to tint just as they had to get used to pictures that moved in the first place. But eventually, inevitably, all films will be made in color.

Paramount, for its first venture, wisely selected Zane Grey's story of the desert. The setting in the painted, rugged country adjacent to Death Valley is peculiarly fit for such treatment.

And Irvin Willat, director, is to be congratulated for subordinating neither color nor dramatic values, one to the other.

Jack Holt is the "Wanderer." Believing he has slain his brother, he takes refuge in the wasteland, where he lives a primitive life and meets weird adventure.

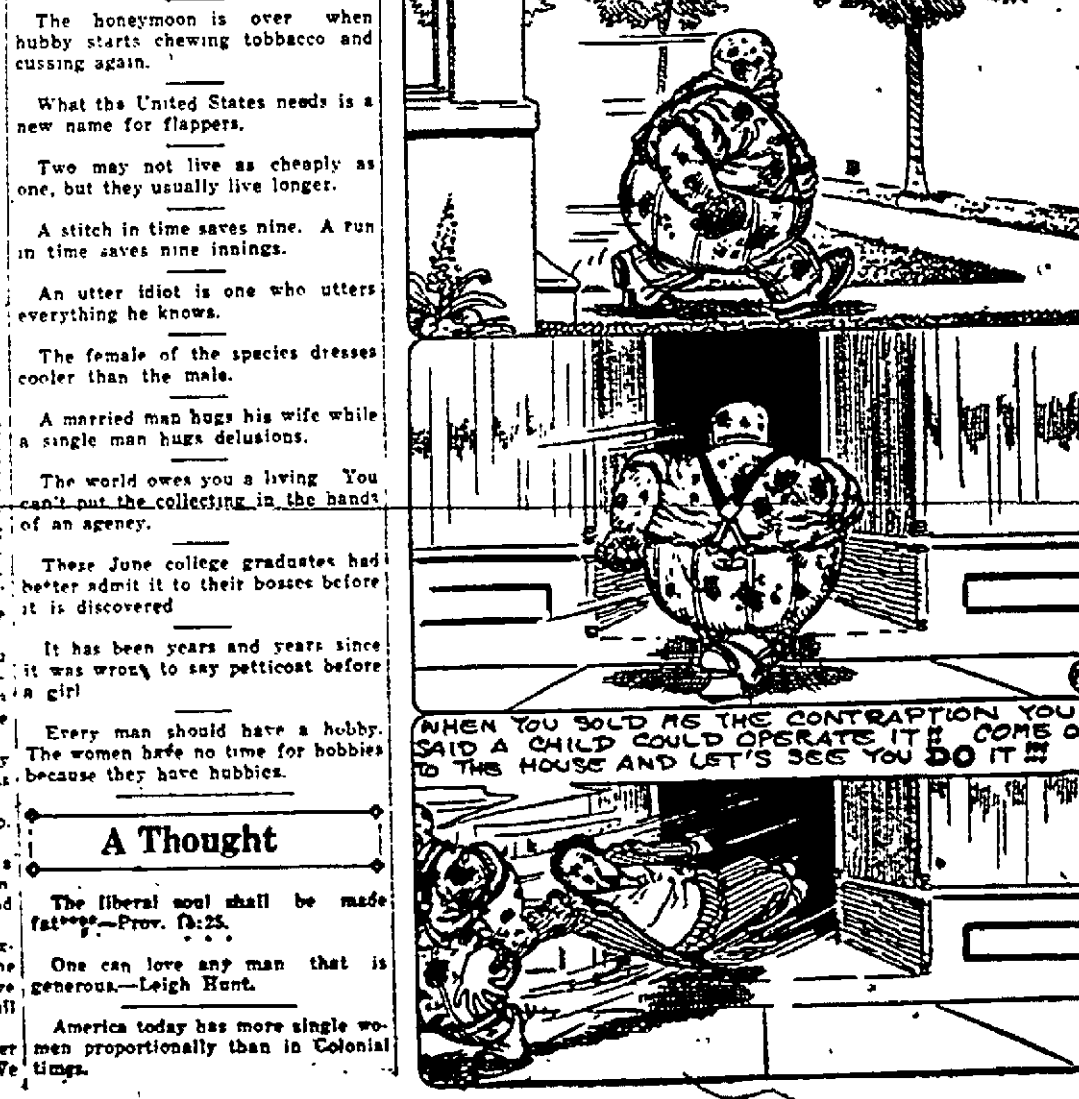

The most fantastic is an encounter with a jealous man who has taken his wife to the sandy solitudes to hide her from imaginary lovers.

The maniac destroys both himself and the woman with a rock avalanche. These parts are respectively played by George Irving and Kathryn Williams, and very well played.

Noah Beery is a desert rat who befriends the "Wanderer" and is in turn saved by the latter from gold mine bandits.

The romantic element is contributed by Holt and Billie Dove. Beery's is his best performance—unless I have been tricked to that opinion by color photography.

THE PRICE YOU PAY

By Albert Apple

No matter what we get in life, we pay for it. Nature never gives something for nothing. Whenever we acquire anything, we lose an equivalent something.

Take the family that was poor until the war came and made them rich. Their wealth has brought wonderful things into their lives. But they have lost things that cannot be measured in dollars—including association with intimate friends of the old days, and the joys of simple pleasures.

Maybe they are happier than they were back in the days when a dollar looked as big as a wagon wheel. If so, they are being rewarded for enduring past misery.

The law of compensation—cause and effect—always balances the scales in the long run. The weights that balance the scales are not always visible to outsiders. But it takes a lot of ill-gotten gains to compensate for remorse, shame or an uneasy conscience.

Possibly shame, even conscience, is lacking in some hearts during life. But no one knows what thoughts and feelings are at the instant of death. Nor the price that is collected beyond the grave from people who dodge payment in this life.

Most of the discomforts and reputed loneliness of bachelor life vanish when we marry. But we soon find that we have acquired new burdens and worries.

Observe the mother, slave to her baby. She is paying for the maternal joy that has come into her life.

Ponder the man who flees from the congestion, stench and irritation of the city. In the wilderness or on a farm he has freedom, elbow-room, fresh air, peace. And he pays the price by not having the conveniences and excitement of the metropolis.

Even knowledge has its price—intense study and surrender of time that might be spent in pleasure.

We pay in full. When we get a thing we lose its equivalent. At the end of the road, old and successful, we look back and would trade it all for youth. Something for nothing? Never!

DEMOCRACY GOES AWOOGING FOR THE FEMALE VOTE

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

New York, July 8.—Democracy has gone awooging. It's out to capture the ladies. And if the female in politics is half as susceptible to blandishments and beguilements as she is supposed to be in matters of the heart, the feminine vote may cut a considerable figure in the final count for political offices this fall.

The share accorded to women, in the Democratic convention, was in striking contrast to the extent of participation that was permitted them in the Republican gathering at Cleveland.

Not only were they given greater representation, numerically, in the field of delegates and alternates, but in all the convention activities they were allowed a freer hand and wielded a wider influence than was yielded them at any stage of the Cleveland proceedings.

These special courtesies to the ladies are counted on not merely to help the Democratic presidential ticket, but to be a big factor on the congressional and senatorial campaigns.

For control of the legislative end by an effective majority is no less important to the party's program than the election of their man as the executive head of the government.

And aggressive assistance by women workers, it is conceded, can be particularly helpful in the local congressional fight where feminine, church, club and social pressures can best be exerted.

In this move, Democrats hope to cash in on the campaign already in full swing by the National League of Women Voters, for greater political participation by women.

The League's campaign is political, but non-partisan. It makes no part in booting the candidates of any party. It is committed to insoucious of particular interest to women including child labor and the prevention of war, but the main drive of its present campaign is to stimulate women's interest in politics to the point where they will get out and vote.

In this connection, The League points out that, even in the election of 1920, less than half the eligible voters of the nation went to the polls on election day. The total vote cast, it claims, was but 49 per cent of the number that would have been cast had every elector exercised his or her right of suffrage. The result, although an overwhelming victory for the Republicans on the basis of the votes registered, was actually an election by a minority—by less than one-third of the nation's qualified voters, in fact.

The League has set itself the task of getting out at least 75 per cent of the total eligible vote this fall. If it succeeds even half way in its effort, the number of ballots cast this fall will exceed 28,786,000 votes cast in 1920 by more than 7,100,000. If it reached the goal of 75 percent, the total vote next Nov. 4 would exceed 51,000,000. The party that can pull the biggest part of the increased vote the League's campaign promises to bring to the polls is the party most likely to win the election.

And this is the vote the Democrats are out to capture. They believe it is, to a very large extent, the feminine vote. Therefore the special attentions given the ladies—even to the extent of proposing a woman candidate for vice president!

Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, economist and statistician, who has made a special study of election figures and served as the official tally of the usual presidential election is decided by a switch of less than 5 per cent of the voters cast.

If the women can bring to the Democrats that necessary 5 per cent, then the political gallantry of the Democratic leaders will have won its suit.

BANKRUPT PETITION FOR DISCHARGE AND ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON

In the District Court of the United States.

For the Northwestern Division, District of North Dakota.

In the Matter of Fred Nelson, Bankrupt. No. 5344 in Bankruptcy.

That the honorable Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of North Dakota Fred Nelson, of Menoken in the County of Burleigh, and State of North Dakota, in said District, has duly filed with the court on the 24th day of April, 1924 last past he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights in property, and has fully complied with the requirements of said acts, and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have all charges from all debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy act, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 15th day of May, A. D. 1924.

FRED NELSON, Bankrupt.

ORDER OF NOTICE

District of North Dakota, ss:

On this 23rd day of June, A. D. 1924, on reading the Petition for Discharge of the above-named Bankrupt, it is—

Ordered By the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same at the 22nd day of August, A. D. 1924, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Bismarck Tribune, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all persons and creditors of other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court that the Referee shall send, by mail, to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness my hand and the Seal of the said Court, at Bismarck, in said district, on the 23rd day of June, A. D. 1924.

(SEAL OF THE COURT)

J. A. MONTGOMERY, Clerk.

By E. R. STEELE, Deputy Clerk.

STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA.

In County Court, before Hon. J. C. Davies, Judge.

In the Matter of the Estate of Charles Cosgrove, Deceased.

Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, Petitioner, vs. Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, Mrs. John Breen, Mrs. Helen M. Ling, Michael Cosgrove, Ed Cosgrove, May Cosgrove, Ethel Cosgrove, John Cosgrove, Wilfred Cosgrove, Cecilia Cosgrove, and Olive Geberux, Respondents.

The State of North Dakota to the Above Named Respondents and All Persons Interested in the Estate of Charles Cosgrove, Deceased:

You and each of you are hereby notified that Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, the petitioner herein, has filed in this Court a petition, praying that the estate of said deceased be administered by the court, and that said petition will be heard and duly considered by the court on the 12th day of August, A. D. 1924, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the Court Rooms of this Court, in the County Court House, in the City of Bismarck, County of Burleigh, and State of North Dakota, and you and each of you are hereby cited to be and appear before this Court at said time and place, and answer said petition, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

By the Court:

J. C. DAVIES, Judge of the County Court.

Dated the 30th day of June, A. D. 1924.

Let the service of the above citation be made by publication in the Bismarck Tribune once each week for three successive weeks, all not less than twenty days before said hearing.

Sports U.S. OLYMPIC TEAM IN LEAD OVER FINLAND

Yankee Athletics Score Many Smashing Victories in Colombes Stadium

PADDOCK DETHRONED

U. S. WINS MORE POINTS Olympic Stadium, Colombes, France, July 8. (By the A.P.)—Making a clean sweep of the first three places in the shotput and sending the Stars and Stripes up three stadium musts for the first time, the United States today swept into a commanding lead for the Olympic track and field championships. The 21-point gain in this event ran the total for America up to 98, or nearly double Finland's total of 54.

Colombes, France, July 8. The United States fighting desperately to retain athletic supremacy in the face of the most formidable opposition he had ever encountered, wrested the lead from her most powerful rival, Finland, by a narrow margin, yesterday, the second day of the Olympic track and field championships, after a stirring six-hour battle for points which did not end until dusk had settled over the big stadium.

Coming into their own for the first time, the wearers of the shield captured two out of the four final contests today, shattered two world records and eclipsed three Olympic marks in a series of sensational performances, but suffered an unexpected setback when Harold Abrahamson, the Cambridge University star, outraced the fleetest American sprinters and captured the 100 meters championship for Great Britain.

Grinnell Hurdler Smashes Mark. The brilliant 100 meter hurdler, Walter H. Morgan, Taylor, in the world record time of 22.3 seconds, gave an astonishing world record broad jump of 25 feet, 6 inches, by Robert Gledhill in capturing this feature of the Pentathlon and H. M. O. Thomsen's Olympic record leap of 6 feet, 6 inches, to win the high jump seemed to be forgotten in the minds for the American athletes as they ran their springing strides how to the Australasian Briton.

Abrahamson, whose long, rangy stride carried him to triumph, and proved that he was the only real rival of the Americans, yesterday overcame apparently heavy odds against him, with a speed that none of his opponents could wish for more than half the distance. Where he had won his previous races with ease, he was forced to battle in the final which was like a fiasco. He showed a yard in front of Scholz and Bowman at the halfway mark and lengthened the margin as his powerful strides drove the remaining yards. Scholz, feeling finished, was unable to bridge the gap and, to quote the New Zealanders, regarded as "a tank," he was through.

Abrahamson, who gave him third place over the three Americans, Bowman, Paddock, and March, who finished behind him in that order.

Paddock Dethroned. Success in the crown Paddock had won in 1920 at Antwerp, Belgium, seemed the nation's dream, but he was dethroned by the American, Bowman, who finished second in that order.

On this, the second day of the Olympic track and field championships, the United States today won 21 points, all but six of which were secured by George Hays, a 17 year old boy, to her total and was the striking distance of the top with 47.

The rest of the 15 nations are all heavily defeated by the two outstanding teams. Sweden holds third place with 15 points and Great Britain with 14. The United States and Norway are tied with 13. And New Zealand has 11, completing the list of the most battle tried far.

Ordinary Players Star As Coaches, George Huff Says

By NEA Service. Urbana, Ill., July 7.—More and more red-blooded young Americans who like sports and outdoor life are looking to athletic coaching as an inviting profession.

When the University of Illinois established a four-year course in athletic coaching and granted a degree of bachelor of science to those who completed the work, this was regarded as a revolutionary step in academic circles. Now most educators concede that an athletic coach should be trained just like an engineer, lawyer, physician, teacher and so on.

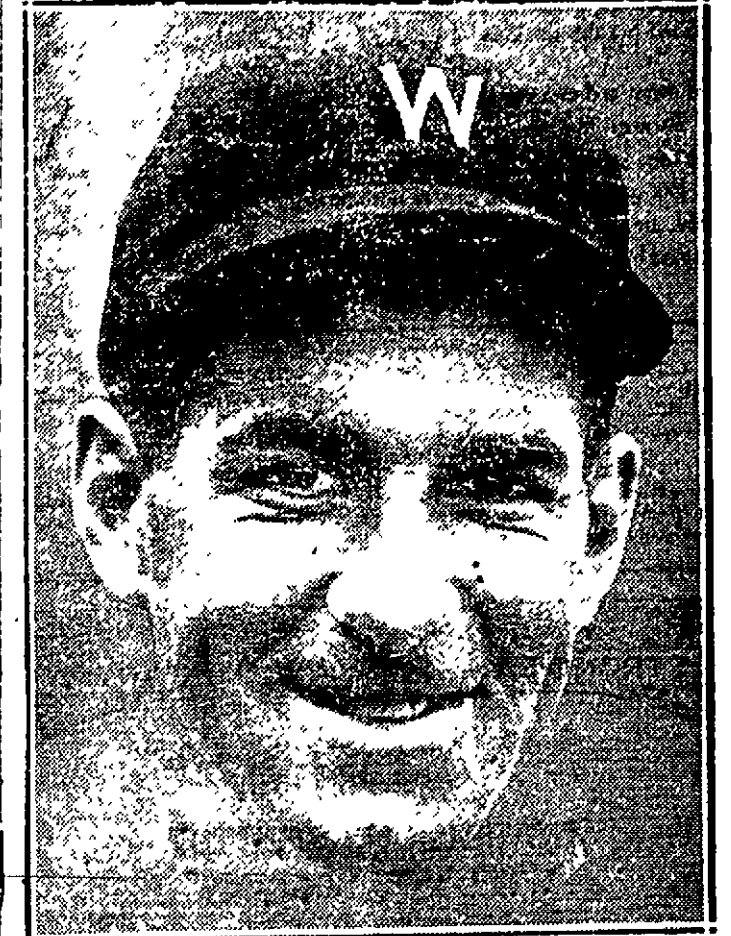

Illinois has just graduated its second class of embryonic coaches—23 of them.

"One of the most interesting facts demonstrated is that a man does not have to be a star athlete to be a good coach," says George Huff, fourth year and director of the four-year course.

"The prospective coach must have some aptitude in sports so that he can play them but he does not have to be a star player."

IT IS TO LAUGH!

And the Boy Manager of Washington Gives It to the Critics Who Said He Would Fail

BUCKY HARRIS

The hardened old critics said in the spring that Bucky Harris would be a failure as manager of the Washington hot club. "He's little more than a kid," they argued, "and running a big league ball club is no kid's job."

Well, Washington is on top in the American League for the first time in ages, and the manager of the young second baseman is largely responsible for it. No wonder his face is wreathed in smiles these days.

to be good enough to be a varsity player.

"Some of the best records as coaches which our first graduates have made were made by men who were not even good enough to win a place on a varsity squad."

Johnson's Fast One Fast As Ever?

By Billy Evans. Pitchers come and go in the majors, but Walter Johnson seems to be here to stay.

It will be a long time before baseball boasts another Walter Johnson. Pitchers of the Cy Young and Walter Johnson type are few and far between.

Walter Johnson made his debut in the major league 18 years ago. Not another pitcher in the league at that time remains in active service.

It was my good fortune to umpire the game in which Johnson made his debut.

He bent him, 2 to 1, after a hard struggle.

Recently Washington returned home in first place. It was the first time in the history of the club that the team has occupied so high a position in the race to late in the year.

In first place, with nine straight victories to its credit, Washington fans turned out to the extent of $5,000 to pay him and celebrate.

Nationals' Pitching Ace. Baseball celebrities are usually sad affairs. Before a big crowd the home team invariably plays bad baseball. The crowd that turned out to welcome the Nationals was the largest week end crowd ever to see a game in Washington.

Manager Hays put it up to Walter Johnson to keep the fans in good humor. Ever since he joined the Washington club Johnson has had to carry the pitch a burden for his team.

Did Johnson deliver? He seldom fails.

On this, the second day of the Olympic track and field championships, the United States today won 21 points, all but six of which were secured by George Hays, a 17 year old boy, to her total and was the striking distance of the top with 47.

The rest of the 15 nations are all heavily defeated by the two outstanding teams. Sweden holds third place with 15 points and Great Britain with 14. The United States and Norway are tied with 13. And New Zealand has 11, completing the list of the most battle tried far.

Fast Ball Still Puzzles. While he did not constantly resort to the dazzling speed that early in his career made him famous, he always had something in reserve. He struck out that dangerous hitter, Sam Rice, on three fast balls, to end the game, the thought came to me that in a pinch his fast one was just as puzzling a 18 years ago.

It seems that fate has ordained that I should watch a man of Johnson's old remarkable game in three games in New York when he established a record by shutting out the Yankees in three successive contests. Officiated in another game in which he struck out 10 men in five innings, only to lose in a record in his grasp when his team-mates were defeated.

Records Mean Nothing. If Johnson cared for records, in all probability every worthwhile pitching feat would now be to his credit. Records, however, mean nothing to Johnson. He has always been a team player. Winning the ball game has always been his ambition, regardless of the score on his side.

Johnson cannot go on forever. They do say he is thinking of retiring this fall and buying a minor league club. Major league baseball will suffer a great loss if he does. Johnson cherishes one great desire, to pitch in a world series. Manager Harris of the Nationals is hopeful that he may give him that opportunity this fall.

Billy Evans Says. The breaks of the game decide most sport events. The loser is constantly bemoaning the fact that Lady Luck seldom smiles on him. The winner seems to constantly a famous college football team last fall. The coach, a great believer in psychology, sought to make his players believe they could not be beaten. He wanted them to dwell only on victory.

"A team that doesn't think it can be beaten is mighty hard to beat," is the way the famous coach put it to me.

I have often seen that theory put to the acid test on the ball field and in most cases proved true.

The winner is always the optimist, the loser the pessimist.

Luck plays a part in many of the breaks that come up in any sporting event, but often what appears pure luck is the result of much thought and great daring on the part of the team that is benefited by the break.

ATHLETICS IN DOUBLE WIN

Take Boston Red Sox Down The Line Twice

Chicago, July 8.—The Boston Red Sox took a tumble yesterday, when Chicago's lowly Philadelphiaans defeated them, 6 to 2 and 6 to 3. Jack Quinn, who usually has the Indian sign on the Athletics, was hit hard. This double-header was the only baseball in the American League yesterday.

In the Nationals, St. Louis got 20 hits off Keen and Blake and defeated the Chicago Cubs, 15 to 3. Bottomley was knocked unconscious and lost two teeth when he ran into a grandstand wall after catching a foul in the fifth.

Pittsburgh, with Yde in the box, defeated Brooklyn, 9 to 5.

Boston, July 8.—John G. Price of Columbus, former attorney-general of Ohio, was elected grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at the annual grand lodge meeting here today.

ARMY FLIERS MAKE NEW HOP

Bagdad, Mesopotamia, July 8.—The American army airmen on a world flight arrived here today at 5 o'clock from Buchir, Persia. They will leave at 10 o'clock tomorrow for Aleppo.

PHOTOGRAPHIC PLANES ARE ARMY'S "DEATH EYES"

By NEA Service

Dayton, July 7.—The "death eyes" of the United States army are a new terror to potential enemies.

Eyes that can see anything; eyes that record instantly and permanently their objects; eyes that bring death with their glance!

Secret researches by army engineers are making the eyes the 22 photographic sections of the air service—the most efficient and one of the most effective pieces of war machinery.

These sections are perhaps the most mobile units in the army. Should a national emergency arise, these 22 sections could be stripped for action and on the move within 12 hours.

And here is how the eyes can bring death and destruction, as proved by recent tests:

A big gun was aimed at a concealed target six miles away. Army photographers in an airplane took pictures of the target as the shots hit. The films were dropped to the ground.

The air service below developed them and in three minutes the big gun commander saw pictures and corrected his range. The fourth shot demolished the target.

In another test a photographic section plane flew to a given altitude directly above the target. The plane was above the range of the possible enemy guns. Directly over the target it gave a signal. By triangulation the ground forces were able to compute the location exactly.

And now experiments are being made to devise a paper that will make pictures instantaneously.

From an airplane a picture will be taken the instant the first shot hits and a second later a photograph of the target dropped to the commander, enabling him, another second later, to send a true shot.

Each of the 22 sections consists of a commander, 21 men, two photographic airplanes and two trucks, carrying all equipment, including a developing room.

ROBBER SUSPECT

Mrs. Ruth Cook, 19, held by San Francisco police as a robber suspect, has issued a call for her fugitive newly wedded husband to "come and explain." He'd get me out of this if he were here," she says. But Fred Cook, accused of a $10,000 jewelry robbery, hasn't shown up yet.

STOCK CASES RULINGS MADE

Unfair Practices Are Found By Examiner

South St. Paul, Minn., July 8.—Judge C. E. Mills, examiner for the department of agriculture, made a report yesterday of his findings in three stockyard cases heard here last February.

In the two other cases heard by Judge Mills he recommended dismissal of the complaint against the Farmers' Union Livestock company, and recommended that a cease and desist order be issued in the case of the People's Co-operative Commission company.

Various complaints against the Central Co-operative Commission are reviewed by the examiner who finds some of them proven and others subject to dismissal. Judge Mills recommends that the petition to intervene on behalf of the National Livestock be allowed, but that the motion to consolidate the content of the Minnesota Pig Company, with this complaint be denied.

Buenos Aires, July 8.—Two hundred and fifty persons were killed and 200 injured during the insurrection which broke out at Sao Paulo, Brazil Friday night, according to reliable information received here today.

Baton Rouge, La., July 8.—Resolutions voicing "merited indignation" of the rank and file of the Democratic party against the conduct of the national Democratic convention were introduced today in the lower house of the Louisiana legislature by Howard E. Breunner of Acadia. It cannot be acted upon until tomorrow.

VET ATTACKS GEN. HINES

Argument Over Physical Examination Leads to Fight

By the Associated Press

Washington, July 8.—Brig. General Hines, director of the Veterans bureau, was involved in a fistie encounter with a former service man in his office at the bureau yesterday, suffering a gash over the left eye and bruises which required medical attention. According to witnesses, the veteran who engaged in the affair was Thomas B. Deavor of Houston, Tex., who had called to protest that a medical examination made at San Antonio had injured his claim before the bureau. Deavor left immediately after the fray and officials said no charges would be filed against him.

When Deavor protested to General Hines against the report of three physicians, who had examined him, it was said, the director called in Captain C. O. Shaw, chairman of the board of appeals, and the three were going over the case when the encounter developed. Shaw, it was added, attempted to separate the two and was turned upon by Deavor, but the affair finally was quelled by Shaw, a messenger, and P. E. Ralphy, secretary to General Hines.

According to bureau officials, the director offered Deavor a new examination or hospitalization but the latter declined unless the examination were made in the director's office. This General Hines was said to have declined to accede to.

PLAN TO AVERT COAL FAMINE

Engineer Proposes to Cut Bill Also Through Storage

New York, July 8. (A. P.)—Danger of coal famine would be eliminated, industry stabilized, railroads relieved and the consumer's coal bill ultimately cut by seasonal storage of coal, it is asserted in the report of the Storage of Coal Committee of the American Engineering Council made public here today.

"The storage of coal," the report declares, "is essentially necessary as an aid to the solution of the national coal problem, and is an economic and practicable means of insuring an adequate supply of coal as needed."

"If each coal consumer will adopt the policy of annually purchasing coal on a uniform monthly delivery basis, there will result automatically sufficient seasonal storage to guarantee coal to the consumer as needed. Furthermore, this policy will bring about a uniform demand for coal whereby the coal producer and carrier may establish uniform and standard production and shipment schedules."

"It will also remove the evils of intermittent operation of coal mines, frequent panicky market conditions, and coal shortages due to inability of the carriers to meet peak demands."

"While this study refers primarily to industrial consumers of bituminous coal, yet householders also have a direct responsibility. Indeed the householder is in a position to aid with the least cost, because no special equipment for storing and reclaiming is required."

"The committee recommends that all coal consumers purchase their coal on an annual contract for yearly requirements with a provision that the coal be delivered monthly in equal allotments. It urges that consumers provide necessary storage facilities to meet the terms of such contracts."

50-POUND FISH IS CAUGHT IN MISSOURI HERE

A. D. Preston, employed at the United States Indian School west of the city, caught a 50-pound sturgeon in the Missouri River, near the Northern Pacific bridge, late yesterday. The fish is said to be one of the largest caught in the Missouri river in years.

Proving generous, Mr. Preston gave portions of the fish to several people living in the vicinity of the Indian school, all of whom reported it was fine eating, though containing a little too much fat. Mr. Preston landed the sharp-nosed fish without difficulty.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS TONIGHT

The city school board is to hold its annual meeting, for election of officers, at the First Guaranty Bank at 8 o'clock tonight. The question of whether or not there will be seventh and eighth grades at the new Roosevelt school may be taken up.

The Human Element in Big Business

The human element is the biggest element in big business.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was one of the first to give recognition to the welfare and rights of those who go to make up the personnel of its organization.

This Company frankly states that a large measure of its success in business is due to the fact that it has considered the human element first. This applies to its relations with consumers, competitors, stockholders and employees.

No organization in the oil industry, which is an industry of specialization, can efficiently serve the public without a trained and loyal body of workers.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) over a long period of years has built up a great organization of highly trained employees. These people are not regarded as cogs in a big machine. They are treated as human beings—co-workers with the Board of Directors in rendering an essential service to the thirty million people of the Middle West.

To relieve employees of worry, to enable them to give all their thought to their duties, and to stimulate their loyalty and interest, this Company has put into effect a number of plans.

The last of these to be made effective is known as the "Employees' Death Benefits Plan," under which this Company will pay to dependents of employees, upon the death of the latter, a sum of money ranging from $500.00, after one year of service, to $2,000.00, after ten years of service. This money will be paid wholly by the Company, irrespective of the position of the worker, and without expense to him.

In dealing with the public, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) keeps ever in the foreground the fact that in the last analysis it is dealing with men and women. Whether these men and women are inside or outside the organization makes no difference—they must be considered as the human, the only necessary part of industry.

You can't keep human nature out of business, and the bigger the business, the greater the need for proper consideration of that human element which is so important a part of it.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has converted this human element into an asset to the public, by giving the utmost stimulus to those qualities of the worker which make for loyal and intelligent service.
